EXTRAORDINARY MOVE IN NORTHCOTT CASE

Fliers Search In North For Godfrey Plane Party Alberta Sells Three Railway Lines To C.P.R. Plane Seeks To Rescue Four Men Who Flew North

Fliers Leave Lake in Northern Saskatchewan in Sea-plane to Hunt for Squadron Leader A. E. Godfrey and Three Men, Missing Since They Left Peace River, Alberta, Last Sunday for Fort Smith, N.W.T.

Ottawa, Sept. 20.—A seaplane was dispatched from Ladder Lake, in northern Saskatchewan, at noon today to search for Squadron Leader A. E. Godfrey and his party, missing with their seaplane in the Peace River district, C. J. Desbarats, Deputy Minister of National Defence, announced. The plane was to fly to Lake Athabasca and the Peace River, and would follow the route of the Godfrey flight toward Fort Smith in the Northwest Territories. Mr. Desbarats said it would land at various points and inquiries would be made as to whether the missing machine was sighted.

In company with Wing Commanders J. L. Gordon and L. S. Bredner and Sgt. Major Graham, mechanic, Mr. Godfrey was flying in an inspection tour along the Peace River district toward Fort Smith. No word has been received from the party since Sunday, when the plane left Peace River.

VISIBILITY POOR
The fliers are believed to have been forced down on account of poor visibility resulting from smoke of forest fires.

The men were well supplied with provisions, officials of the Air Board state.

The Godfrey seaplane is the one which he and Graham recently flew from Ottawa to Vancouver with a test mail shipment.

RESCUE AT SEA IS BRAVE WORK

Woman and Two Children Taken From Ship in Distress; Vessel Being Towed

New York, Sept. 20.—The thrilling rescue in mountainous seas of a woman and two children from a leaking and water-logged San Francisco steamship off Cape Hatteras was told today in radio messages from the liner Guayaquil.

Caught in the terrific West Indian storm, the lumber steamer Willababo sprang a leak. On board were the captain, C. H. McGahan of Brooklyn, his wife and two children, a boy and a girl, and a crew of thirty-eight men.

The crew worked night and day at the pumps, but the water finally reached the engine room. With the gale still raging, the steamer drifted helplessly.

SOS CALLS HEARD
Yesterday the Willababo's SOS calls were picked up by the Guayaquil of the Panama Railway Line. The Guayaquil went to the rescue and the skipper's family were transferred to her in the high seas.

Capt. McGahan and his men refused to leave the ship. A hawser finally was made fast to the Mallory tanker Hobnar, bound from Cartagena to Bayonne, N.J., which also had responded to the SOS calls.

The Hobnar is towing the Willababo to New York through comparatively calm seas today.

The Guayaquil is scheduled to dock late tomorrow or Saturday.

Kell was a romantic figure in British society. He was a friend of King Edward and Lord Kitchener. He died at Brighton last August at the age of eighty-three.

STATE CABINET MEMBER IN CRASH

Olympia, Wash., Sept. 20.—Charges of driving while intoxicated were on the police court blotter here today against John H. Dunbar, State Attorney General, and J. M. Malloy, after the two had been arrested by prowler car officers at 1:30 a.m. They deposited $250 bail each. The men first gave their names as John H. Howard and J. M. Maloney, but when Frank Christensen, Olympic attorney, obtained their release at 4 a.m. he admitted their identity and the names on the police blotter were corrected.

Dunbar could not be reached for a statement. Dunbar and Malloy were in separate cars, both southbound, with Dunbar's car following Malloy's. Malloy's car sideswiped a car occupied by C. A. Myers and Jack Seline of Portland. Dunbar's car also is said to have struck the Portland machine.

Officers were conferring with Myers and Seline today.

C. Vanderbilt Is Reconciled With Father

The younger Vanderbilt, whose tabloid newspaper publishing venture caused the break with his father, confirmed the report of the reconciliation before leaving with his bride, the former Mrs. Mary Weir Logan, for his Nevada ranch.

Honolulu, Sept. 20.—An army of 2,000 National Guardsmen and more than 600 special deputy sheriffs was mobilized here today to hunt for Gill Jamieson, ten-year-old son of Frederick W. Jamieson, Honolulu banker, and the man who abducted him Tuesday. Young Jamieson was taken from his school by a man of foreign appearance who reported his mother had been injured and desired him to return home.

CROWDS JOIN IN OPENING OF MILLER, COURT

S. W. Miller Says Victoria Worthy of Finest Financial Office

Miller, Court & Company opened their new Victoria office at Government and Bastion Sts. today. Crowds of visitors jammed the board room all day, congratulating the firm in building and operating here one of the finest brokerage offices on the Pacific Coast.

Congratulations also poured in from other cities. The foot of the big board was lined with large baskets of flowers, and with congratulatory messages from many firms.

S. W. Miller, president of the company, was here from Vancouver for the opening.

"With the importance of Victoria as a financial centre, we consider the expenditure we have made in building and equipping this office here well justified," Mr. Miller said. "In deciding on the character of our office building, we considered that it should be the finest on the Continent and be in keeping with the general atmosphere of this city."

"Our business here is growing fast since we opened a few months ago, and I know that the large expenditure involved in giving Victoria a brokerage office of this kind is well justified," age office of this kind is well justified.

Island Mines Against Coal Duty Increase

Vancouver Island coal operators, representing a large section of the coal industry of British Columbia, are strongly opposed to the increase in Canadian coal duties proposed before the tariff board by Nova Scotia collieries. It was learned at the Mines Department today. The Island operators have informed the department that they fear that an increase in the Canadian tariff will bring instant retaliation from the United States and thus hit British Columbia coal exports to American consumers. The island, it is explained, does an important export coal business with United States ports.

The department is awaiting the views of Crow's Nest Pass operators before taking any action on the Nova Scotia application now before the tariff board and due for hearing within the next two weeks.

The Nova Scotia operators call for a duty of $1 a ton on American coal as against the present tariff of 50 cents. In this way they hope to reduce United States coal shipments to Eastern Canadian markets and stimulate their own exports to that field.

CABINET TOURS P.G.E. TO SHAPE FUTURE POLICY

Federal M.P.'s to Join B.C. Legislators in Trip Over Line
Big Party to Leave Squamish To-morrow Morning

Every one of the eleven members of the Cabinet, several British Columbia members of the Canadian Parliament, and a half dozen members of the Provincial Legislature will accompany Premier Tomin on his four-day tour of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway and adjacent country. This tour will start to-morrow in accordance with an announcement in the Conservative leader's election manifesto, in which he stated that his policy in regard to the Pacific Great Eastern Railway was announced after he had journeyed over the line.

Importance of the trip at this time is enhanced by the developments in the Alberta railroad deal and the prospective sale of the four lines owned by the Alberta Government to the Canadian Pacific Railway. Premier Tomin is silent yesterday on any plans for bargaining with the Canadian Pacific railway, which it is presumed, he is looking for a westward outlet to link up with the terminal of the Alberta railroad. This matter and whether the British Columbia Government would be prepared to make land grants to the Canadian Pacific Railway, it is expected, will be discussed during the trip.

MINISTERS START
Hon. W. C. Sheppard, Minister of Finance, Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Mines, Hon. William Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture and S. Loughheed, Minister of Public Works, are in Vancouver and will be joined by others taking the trip to-night and to-morrow morning. Premier Tomin and Hon. S. L. Lowe, Provincial Secretary, will leave this afternoon. Hon. R. W. Bruhn, President of the Executive Council is down from Salmon Arm and will leave during the day. Hon. R. H. (Concluded on page 3)

U.S. Planes Race Across Country

Mines Field, Los Angeles, Sept. 20.—The class A division of the $50,000 Los Angeles-to-Cincinnati air race got off to a late start here today when eighteen planes, held up since 4 a.m. by a heavy fog and began taking the air for El Paso.

With Mr. MacLeod is O. E. Smith of Halifax, director of the bank. They were met here by G. A. Campbell, manager of the Victoria branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, who today showed them the evidences of growth Victoria has entered upon. To for El Paso.

WENATCHEE NOW BARS FILIPINOS

Wenatchee, Wash., Sept. 20.—Twenty-five Philippine orchard workers being imported into the Wenatchee Valley were met at Cashmere last night and escorted back over the pass by 150 citizens of Cashmere district, it was reported here today.

Participants reported that while the Filipinos were terror-stricken, there was no display or threat of violence. The workers were in two buses which were met four miles west of Cashmere. The drivers were told their passengers would not be allowed to leave the buses. After about thirty minutes' discussion, during which a crowd gathered around the buses, the Filipinos were escorted back over the pass.

Feeling ran high when it was learned the islanders were to be imported, and orchardists rekindled trouble experienced in Yakima last year.

C.N.R. SHARES IN ALBERTA RAIL SCHEME

C.P.R.'s Agreement to Purchase Province's Systems Makes That Provision

Details of Transfer of Three Lines Made Public By Alberta Government

Edmonton, Sept. 20.—The Alberta Government today announced the completion of the negotiations by which, subject to confirmation and ratification by the Parliament of Canada and the Provincial Legislature and the shareholders of the C.P.R., the Alberta Government Railways will be sold to the Canadian Pacific with the understanding that the Canadian National Railways are to participate in half the obligation and half the benefits.

The purchase price is: First—The payment of $25,000,000 as follows: (A)—Assuming first mortgage bond of the Edmonton, Dunvegan & British Columbia Railway to the extent of $9,420,000. (B)—Payment of the sum of $15,580,000 as follows: $5,000,000 on the first of June, 1929; $5,000,000 in four years thereafter. Balance of $5,580,000 in ten years thereafter, with interest at four per cent from the date of the sale. The purchaser assumes all payments made and commitments entered into for extensions now being made to the Edmonton, Dunvegan & British Columbia and the Central Canadian Railways. As these extensions probably involve another $1,000,000 or more, the time the sale is consummated, it will be seen the total purchase price is in the neighborhood of $20,000,000. The company further agrees to complete sixty miles of additional extensions in the next five years.

COAST OUTLET

It was not possible to give any commitment with regard to the British Columbia outlet, but it will be remembered that in the joint offer submitted at the last session of the Alberta Legislature the president of the bank would make no commitment whatever in this respect.

The third railway included in the deal is the Alberta and Great Waterways.

CONDITIONS IMPRESS BANK HEAD

Impressed with conditions as he has studied them throughout the Canadian West, J. A. MacLeod, general manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, arrived in Victoria today on a tour of inspection.

"Conditions all through the West are splendid, and the outlook industrially across Canada is most optimistic," he said.

With Mr. MacLeod is O. E. Smith of Halifax, director of the bank. They were met here by G. A. Campbell, manager of the Victoria branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, who today showed them the evidences of growth Victoria has entered upon. To for El Paso.

Also here today is Major-General J. A. MacLeod, general manager of the United States Engineering Corps, Washington, D.C., and United States expert on the St. Lawrence Waterways. He is spending a short holiday at the Empress Hotel, after making an inspection of the Engineering Corps along the Pacific Coast.

A. E. Ames of Toronto, president and founder of the long-established investment banking house of Ames, Ames & Company Limited, with British Columbia offices in Victoria and Vancouver, arrived in Victoria today on a short visit.

With Mr. Ames, Mr. Ames has been on an extended trip through the West, including a stay at Jasper Park. Mr. Ames's firm is interested in many old established and important enterprises in the west as well as in eastern Canada. This is Mr. Ames's first visit to the West since his firm established the Victoria branch in 1919 under the management of H. A. Rose, who is now a director of the company.

The voyage will prevent Mr. Thomas from attending the annual conference of the Labor Party of Great Britain, which will open October 1, but he says there is no question of his running away from possible criticism at the Labor Party conference.

POSTMEN'S PAY IS DISCUSSED

Veriot Looking Into Statement Reported Made at Windsor, Ont., Convention

Ottawa, Sept. 20.—"I do not propose to enter into a controversy with minor employees of the Postoffice Department in regard to salary increases brought by letter carriers. The same kind of statements were made on the floor of the House. I stand by the replies that I made there."

This was the statement made today by Hon. P. J. Veriot, Postmaster-General, in connection with charges made yesterday by R. S. Bull of Ottawa, a delegate at the convention of the Federated Association of Letter Carriers of Canada at Windsor, Ont.

"If, however, the minutes of the convention bear out the newspaper reports when he recommended increases, I will take action," he said.

Mr. Veriot did not indicate what the nature of the action would be.

Mr. Bull's reported statement was that "the Postmaster-General knew very well that the Civil Service Commission would not give us the raises when he recommended increases to the commission. The Government lies when it says it can't give us the money without the approval of the commission."

MARYLAND HAS STORM LOSSES

Rivers Flooded as Result of Rains; Crops Damaged, State Reports

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 20.—With three known deaths and property damage which will mount into the thousands of dollars, the full force of the wind and rainstorm which swept eastern Maryland had spent its force this morning. In its wake were swollen rivers and flattened crops, with a possibility the damage would be increased by flood waters.

Three men met death here yesterday in accidents directly attributable to the storm. Howard Riley was killed when he was struck by a falling tree. Henry Barker was struck by an automobile, the driver of which said the rain driven against the windshield by the high wind had blinded him. James Field, negro, was killed when his automobile struck a fallen tree suspended five feet above the street.

Ganna Walska Declines to Pay U.S. Customs Bill

New York, Sept. 20.—Jewelry and clothing valued at $2,500,000 belonging to Madame Ganna Walska, opera singer and wife of Harold McCormick, harvester millionaire, were held by customs authorities here to-day pending a decision as to whether they are dutiable.

Despite the fact she is the wife of a citizen of the United States, Mme. Walska declares herself to be a non-resident of this country and, therefore, entitled to bring goods through the customs duty free.

GORDON NORTHCOTT, WANTED IN CALIFORNIA, BROUGHT TO VANCOUVER

It is thought the youth left the train at Penitence and went by automobile stage to West Bank, where he boarded the steamer Sicamous, north-bound. He evidently intended to go to Calgary by way of the Okanagan branch line to Sicamous, where the main line joins the branch.

To-day the woman under arrest at Calgary continued to refuse to admit her identity as Mrs. Northcott, although her description tallies with that of the woman against whom a murder charge has been laid in California.

"Young Northcott freely admitted his identity to me," said Chief of Police R. N. Clarke of Vernon over the long distance telephone this morning. "He made no bones of it when I talked to him, although Constable Green told me Northcott denied his identity on the train to Vernon when he was placed under arrest."

"He appeared very nervous and upset and was not at all talkative. He did not make any confession and he was not for one moment as this is not the function of a police officer."

"When questioned by Constable Green about the whereabouts of his mother, he readily consented to give her address, and this was communicated to Provincial Police Inspector Cruikshank at Vancouver."

"CARRIED NO WEAPONS"

"When Constable Green arrested him he found him unarmed and he submitted quietly to arrest. Constable Green at once got into touch with Inspector Cruikshank of the Provincial Police at Vancouver and received instructions to take another car to him and proceed by motor car to Kamloops, there to take the train for Vancouver. Constable Green carried out these instructions and Northcott made no objection."

"On the train to Vernon Constable Green asked his prisoner if he had any papers that would identify him, to which he replied: 'I'm not such a fool.'"

"The constable made the arrest singlehanded."

"Young Northcott was well dressed and looked just like a young bank clerk. He looks about twenty-three, about five feet ten inches tall, and about 170 pounds in weight. He carried a couple of grips and was well supplied with money and good clothes."

ASKED TO AID CHILDREN

Police have not yet discovered Mrs. Winnifred Clark, sister of Northcott. Her daughter is in Vancouver, under care of the Provincial Police, who refuse to reveal her whereabouts.

Inspector Forbes Cruikshank of the Provincial Police has issued a statement asking Mrs. Clark to communicate with him "for the sake of her children."

There is no charge against Mrs. Clark and police will not search for her further. Mrs. Clark is reported to have been with the Northcotts at a rooming house on Pendrell Street, Vancouver, last Sunday.

Since then, however, her whereabouts have become a mystery.

OBJECTED TO PHOTOGRAPHS

"You can't take any photographs of me," said Northcott, as a strongly guarded Provincial police officer led him up to the Canadian Pacific Railway station in Kamloops this morning.

Handcuffed to a Provincial officer, the prisoner looked a very ordinary youth of twenty-one, dressed in a nondescript lounge suit, much creased. As he left the automobile for the train, he smiled weakly, but did not look an abnormal individual, although it was plain he was nervous.

"There has been enough publicity," he remarked as cameras clicked and a small crowd pressed forward to get a glimpse of the youth.

Staff Sergeant Fraser headed the escort which took Northcott to Vancouver. The escort was composed of Superintendent H. J. McMullin, head of the Provincial Police, and Inspector W. L. Fernie of this police district, who were on their way to the Pacific Coast. As the train pulled out of Kamloops with its heavily-guarded quarry, it was seen the prisoner still handcuffed, was closely reading accounts of himself in a newspaper.

SCHOOL DAYS RECALLED

Former schoolmates of Northcott in Vancouver declared he was an abnormal boy, and said he had a strange gait and behavior. The youth, they asserted, would walk at a fast clip on the street, then suddenly halt, think for a moment and then dash on again.

FOUND ON THE THREE-ACRE NORTHCOTT FARM

Last night authorities were informed a boy who had been brought here from DeKalb, Illinois, under the identity of Walter Collins, a boy who had been kidnapped here months before, had admitted he was not the abducted youth and that his assumption of the name of Walter Collins was a hoax. This confirmed the suspicions of the mother of Walter Collins, who had insisted the boy returned to her was not her son.

Walter Collins was named by young Sanford Clark as one of the four boys tortured and murdered on the Northcott farm.

FIRST TIME IN CALIFORNIA

The boy who had been brought here from Illinois said he not only was not Walter Collins, but that he never had been in California before. Declaring he did not know his name, the lad said he believed his parents dead. Police, however, were informed in a message from a woman in Illinois that she believed the boy here to be Billy Fields, and that his parents were living.

The youngster said he had been able to work the hoax by delaying replies to questions until someone in each place gave him a suggestion as to the correct answer. The rest was just "wild guesses," he said. He told the police his only knowledge of Walter Collins was from what he had learned from press accounts and from talking with persons in Sycamore, Ill.

The boy previously had convinced police he was Walter Collins and his mother, Mrs. Christine Collins, after her refusal to admit he was her boy, was held in a ward of the General Hospital for observation.

CHEMICAL TESTS

Blood which stained cloth and earth in two supposed graves on the Northcott ranch was said by City Chemist Rex Welch to be of human origin. A previous test by the chemist had indicated the blood was not that of human beings, but it was discovered serum in the blood was faulty.

He repeated the test with the result he announced yesterday. Previously two paleontologists had identified bones found buried in the suspected "murder farm" as those of human beings. The murder charge against Northcott and his mother is based on the death of an unidentified Mexican boy whose headless body was found near Puente, Cal.

WOMAN HELD DENIES SHE IS MRS. NORTHCOTT

Young than the sixty years ascribed to Mrs. Northcott in description wired here by Pacific Coast police.

Calgary, Sept. 20.—Yesterday British Columbia Police mailed a photo of Mrs. Louise Northcott to Calgary police in an effort to identify the woman now held here, who is believed to be Mrs. Northcott.

The woman in custody is about 5 feet 5 inches in height, with grey, almost white, bobbed hair, and dressed in a black suit and a black hat, with black shoes and stockings.

To-day she reiterated her denial she was Mrs. Northcott. She would not give any address or the names of relatives and friends and said the police her husband was dead, that she had no family and had worked for years to support herself. She declined to give the name of her last employer.

CROWDS JOIN IN OPENING OF MILLER COURT

WORSTED MILL PLEASES

Mr. Miller said that as president of the Jantzen Knitting Company of Vancouver, makers of swimming suits and other woolen goods, he was vitally interested in the opening of the new woolen mills here.

"Our Jantzen company will be the largest potential consumers of the yarn spun by the Victoria factory," Mr. Miller said. "The establishment of this factory in Victoria will mean a big thing to us because we ordinarily carry $100,000 worth of yarn and if we can get our yarn in large quantities readily from Victoria, it will be an important trade factor for us."

"I might say that the Jantzen Company considers the possibilities of the Victoria Woolen Mills so much worth while that we have bought a large block of stock in the company."

Under W. B. Harris, Victoria manager, and G. D. Tyson, the transfer of the Victoria business of Miller, Court and Company was carried out without hitch overnight, since the close of the markets yesterday afternoon.

The board in the new offices is the largest in Victoria, carrying New York, Montreal, Toronto, Calgary and Vancouver markets over direct leased wires by silent teletypewriter.

Later, it is expected the Chicago, Winnipeg and Vancouver grain markets will be added.

The whole office is furnished in light oak, with specially-imported floor covering and specially designed wrought iron electrical fixtures. The fittings were all personally chosen by Mr. Harris.

Just outside the front entrance a plaque will be erected by the Victoria Historical Society to commemorate the fact that the corner was the site of the old bastion of the early days of this city. This plaque will be illuminated at night by an old ship's lantern of a style dating back to the days of the pioneer.

"BUILD B.C."

"I never saw finer canned milk in my fifty years of life," writes Mrs. Ralf, Commercial Drive.

"About three and a half years ago I came to Vancouver and once I bought Pacific Milk I have used no other."

We have over 300 letters in which the writers say they use Pacific Milk exclusively.

THE WEST COAST ROAD

WHEN IT WAS ANNOUNCED recently that the money allocated for the West Coast Road this year had been used The Times expressed the hope that it might be possible to re-arrange other votes so that work could proceed on this important project through the Winter months. Latest advice from the Government, however, indicates that it will not be possible to resume operations until after a new appropriation has been voted by the Legislature in the ordinary way.

In view of the importance of this undertaking to the whole of the West Coast, and particularly to Victoria, we presume that the Government will ask the Legislature to vote sufficient money at its next session to complete it. Hon. Mr. Pooley, whose constituency will benefit considerably by the project, no doubt is fully convinced that the Government could not make a better investment than this. We hope we may rely upon his staunch advocacy of completing the road as quickly as possible.

OUR TOURIST BUSINESS

IF THERE ARE ANY PEOPLE IN CANADA at this stage who are not convinced that the Dominion's tourist industry is one of its most important, the fact that the country's revenue from this source this year is expected to reach the huge sum of $325,000,000 ought to convince them.

This figure takes on fuller significance when it is borne in mind that this was practically the amount of the national debt of Canada before the war. This is how it compares with other trade items: Wheat exports, 1927, $339,624,000; mineral production, $244,520,000; output of pulp and paper, $219,329,000; building permits for sixty-three cities, $184,613,000.

It thus will be seen that a business which only a few years ago was almost negligible has rapidly grown to be the country's second industry. It appears not too much to say, moreover, that within the next decade it will exceed the yearly value of the Dominion's wheat exports.

The important point to remember about the tourist industry is that it pays the largest dividends from the smallest expenditure of any business in the world. All we have to do in Canada is to advertise our holiday attractions in the most judicious manner; but we must advertise if we wish to continue to draw the tourist from other countries.

The proportion of return in tourist trade from advertising is reflected in Victoria's turnover. We spend less than $50,000 a year and our holiday trade, which is growing remarkably, is worth something like four or five million dollars annually.

CHEWING THE FOOD

A GENERATION AGO THE GREAT fad of the day was "Fletcherizing." This, you may remember, was the theory that if you only chewed each bite of food long enough and vigorously enough you wouldn't need to eat so much and would, at the same time, gain greatly in strength and endurance.

Now comes Dr. Harold Holck, instructor in physiology at the University of Chicago, to disprove it.

He experimented on himself for a year and a half. And he reports that the extra chewing involved in the process wearied his jaws so much that he lost his appetite. This, in turn, involved loss of weight, and as a result his muscular energy was impaired. Oddly enough, he found that it helped him to solve intricate chess problems; but he doubts if that compensates for physical deterioration.

"Fletcherizing" is a lost fad, anyway. But Dr. Holck's experiment is interesting, nevertheless.

THE APPLE AND FREIGHT COSTS

HON. WILLIAM ATKINSON, MINISTER of Agriculture in the Tolmie Government, says the value of the apple crop in the Okanagan Valley district this year, will be between $6,000,000 and $7,000,000, but he declares that the cost of freight alone will be something like $2,000,000, or approximately one-third of the total value.

These are interesting and alarming figures, for on the top of the freight charge there is $1,125,000 for labor and $600,000 for boxes, or $3,725,000 altogether. It has been argued that the only way to insure the prairie market for the Okanagan apple grower is to impose a tariff against the American product, by enforcing the dumping duty. The figures Mr. Atkinson has made public suggest that other and more effective means will have to be employed if the situation which the British Columbia growers seem to be facing is to be remedied.

It is not within our province to express an opinion as to how a crop worth six or seven million dollars should be sent to its markets for less than one-third of its value; but it will appear to most anyone that there is something radically wrong somewhere, something that obviously will have to be changed to make apple growing in the Okanagan valley a profitable industry. It can not be argued seriously that the imposition of the dumping duty would improve the situation. Resort to this means or the employment of a direct tariff would be seized upon by the various agencies interested in moving the crop. They would want their share of the advantage. The result would be higher-priced apples in the market upon which the grower hitherto has depended.

The point of view of the consumer must be taken into consideration. He is ready to purchase apples and he will pay a fair price for them. When he is asked to pay more for them than he thinks they are worth, he goes without. It would be foolish of the Okanagan grower to insist upon a policy which would destroy his own market.

GOVERNMENTS AND WAR

SOME PLAIN SPEAKING HAS BEEN done in a number of the Old Country newspapers in respect of the British Government's reservations to the Kellogg renunciation of war treaty and the "secret" naval proposal of Britain and France. The Manchester Guardian says there is a deepening disquiet among thinking people in England over the mishandling of outlaws—a disquiet which no government can afford to underestimate. It argues that the "constructive pacifism of the United States and Germany has put ourselves and our former ally France to shame." The Guardian then goes on to say:

If a government cannot understand what the people think and fear it would do well to reflect on the events of ten and eleven years ago. The governments of Russia, Germany, Austria and Bulgaria were overthrown by revolutions. Nor did the breath of revolution leave the victorious powers wholly unimpressed. In 1917 French regiments turned their backs on the front and began to advance on Paris with cheers for a new social order. In the next war the victor will suffer more than the vanquished did in the last, and its rulers will hardly escape the vengeance of the ruled. The memory of what may follow another war should not leave the governments or, indeed, the governing classes (for what happened in Russia may happen elsewhere), wholly unimpressed. To make another war impossible is the first duty of every government, and should be a test by which every government must stand or fall. The abolition of war should be the supreme issue in every election. No candidate should have a chance who is not pledged to this. Public opinion in England has been deeply stirred by the lesson of the air manoeuvres. The government cannot afford to remain unresponsive.

In its reference to the recent air manoeuvres The Guardian notes what experts have said about the hopeless vulnerability of the cities of Britain. It knows, of course, that if there should be another war it would be one of nation annihilating nations. It would be a conflict in which the civilian population would be the principal sufferers. That is all the more reason why the peoples of the world should make it their business to tolerate only those governments whose policies insist upon peace.

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S RAILWAY

IT IS GRATIFYING TO LEARN THAT the members of the Tolmie Government are preparing to go over the Pacific Great Eastern Railway system and obtain first-hand information about it and the country which it serves.

The taxpayers of this Province must not be surprised if the policy which the Government may announce after it has made its inspection does not solve the problem. Two courses were open to the late Government. One involved the completion of the road and the other its disposal. Its completion would have required a large appropriation. Such a proposal would have encountered a good deal of opposition from many members of the Legislature, irrespective of party affiliation. On the other hand, nobody seems in a hurry to make a bid for the property. At this stage we do not see what other alternatives will be discovered by the new Government.

In the meantime, however, Dr. Tolmie and his colleagues will be able to approach the problem with an open mind. If they are able to find a solution, the people of British Columbia will be pleased. The result of their investigations will be awaited with interest.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

RESTRICTED IMMIGRATION

From The New Statesman

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, on arriving in Canada last week, was reported as saying that the trouble with the Dominion was that she demanded as immigrants the cream of our working people. The truth is as he put it. It is a truth throughout the entire English-speaking world overseas, and the countries of the Old World, including the Mother Country of all the Britons, must acknowledge that in establishing it the American and Dominion Governments are fulfilling the law of their being.

LORD MELCHETT'S DREAM

The Toronto Star

Lord Melchett is quite frank in saying (in The London Daily Telegraph) that "The main basis of the new policy would be that Britain should be the senior partner in manufacturing, and the various Dominions and other component parts of the Empire the senior partner in the production of foodstuffs and raw material." That is Lord Melchett's dream and it is a dream. . . . It can be stated with all the certainty there is in this uncertain world that the Dominions will all continue to encourage manufacturing at home, rather than in Britain, and that there is even a feeling that Canada's nickel should be manufactured in Canada to a greater extent than at present.

SIX ALIBI CONVENTIONS
If you always followed the admonition to lead the weakness it would mean that third hand should always lead the weakest suit in the dummy. Assume that you are east and the dummy holds:
Spades—X X X; hearts—X; diamonds—Q 8 6 4; clubs—K X X X X.
The declaration is in a suit. Assume that on the first round west led a small club and you captured it with the club ace. What card would you return? Playing by rote, you would return a heart for it is the weakest suit in the dummy. In all probability, however, the declarer would capture it with the spade ace and he would then be in a position to ruff losing hearts in the dummy.
Instead of removing the singleton heart from the dummy, you should lead a trump and thus remove a danger spot from the table. This is a possibility that the declarer will try to finesse the trump and west, your partner, may win it. Then he would lead a heart and you would be in a position to trump.
By ignoring the convention in this instance, you make the most of your combined hands.

PIANO PEDAGOGUES

To the Editor:—Having read with great interest in Musical Notes by G. J. D., under the heading "America's Tribute to Piano Pedagogy," all comments are reminded of the fact that a publicist of the readers of The Musical Observer, published in New York, Tobias Matthay of London, England, has been declared to be one of the ten foremost pioneers in piano pedagogy since Clementi, and the only living representative. It may be of interest to many of your musical readers to know that the most successful and valued artist pupil of the great Tobias Matthay, acknowledged as the greatest pianoforte teacher in the world to-day, is resident in this city and principal of a school of music. Many talented students travel to New York and London in order to continue their musical studies under well-known teachers, while here in their midst is a master whom Matthay delighted to praise.

THE GODFREY FLIGHT

To the Editor:—Mr. Pickles' article regarding the advisability of establishing a seaplane dock in Victoria Harbour, one is reminded of the fact that the recent historic flight of Squadron Leader Godfrey from Ottawa to the Coast, terminated at Vancouver, and not, as one might suppose, at Victoria, the capital city of the Province. This is regrettable but may possibly be accounted for by the fact that Victoria does not possess facilities such as are available at Jericho Beach for the accommodation of seaplanes.

If this is so the inference is obvious. Victoria should immediately take steps to provide such facilities as outlined by Mr. Pickles.

Regarding Squadron Leader Godfrey's flight, however, it is a fact that he was able to alight and depart from Surf Inlet—Victoria is the logical landing place, and therefore one would imagine, could do the same from Victoria. If the powers that be had been graceful enough to have included the capital city in his itinerary.

Surely Victoria has been neglected long enough in favor of Vancouver, and when, as in this case, it is a question of mail—as Mr. Pickles has pointed out—Victoria is the logical mail terminus of Canada and as such is entitled to recognition before Vancouver.

The recent exploit of Squadron Leader Godfrey, blazoned Vancouver's name over all the Dominion while Victoria, as usual, played the part of the poor relation.

Let us realize that we have a nice

FOOD SENT TO PORTO RICANS

Aid Given Sufferers on Island Swept By Hurricane

San Juan, Porto Rico, Sept. 20.—Food supplies were moving into the Porto Rico hurricane stricken districts outside of San Juan to-day under Red Cross supervision. Tents and blankets were being distributed by the army for emergency hospitals and for the shelter of those weakened by privation.

The food was taken directly from the United States army transport St. Michel in army trucks.

Reports of casualties still were filtering in to-day. Senator Jordan announced forty-five bodies had been found at Utuado, when instructions were given last Saturday to bury the bodies where they were found after identification if possible.

A courier brought the first word from San Sebastian, in a high mountain valley in the northwest of the country, advising the Red Cross forty-six bodies had been found there up to Sunday last, when he left.

ONE THOUSAND DEATHS
With these reports coming in, observers said there was ample substantiation that the estimate of 1,000 deaths was conservative. Although police have reported only 106 dead, their reports covered known dead up to noon Tuesday, and were at variance with persons at the scene of the disaster.

Thomas C. MacCreary, president of the San Juan Clearing House Association, and others informed as to conditions here, agreed the losses were approximately 10,000,000.

FUNDS PROVIDED

Paris, Sept. 20.—The Cabinet to-day authorized an expenditure of $4,000,000 for hurricane relief in the French West Indies, including Guadeloupe, where the death toll was 600. Parliamentary approval will be asked later.

NEW JERSEY HAS STORM LOSSES

People Count Up Damage Caused Yesterday; Three Lives Lost

Newark, N.J., Sept. 20.—Rousing itself from the nightmare of a storm which wrought state-wide havoc and took three lives, New Jersey to-day surveyed fallen trees, broken wires and a battered water front. Fearing the fury of the gale would endanger coastlanders, United States coastguardsmen at Monmouth ordered a general evacuation of the beach colony. More than 110 families fled inland to find shelter in hotels and homes of neighbors.

TRAFFIC DELAYED

Sweeping down as many as two and three trees to a block in sections of the Asbury Park district, the storm halted traffic while men chopped and hewed to clear the way. Telephone and electric light wires were reported down throughout Monmouth County, and at Atlantic Highlands one man lost his life when a fallen wire brushed against him. He was Thomas Wright, thirty-eight, a butcher.

VESSELS IN DISTRESS

Two vessels reported in distress could not be reached by coastguards because of high seas. A four-master signalling distress off Asbury Park was blown to sea as futile attempts were made to reach it in a surf boat. Off Sandy Hook, on the bay side, a yacht was left at the mercy of the storm while rescue parties were unable to approach.

At Highland a two-masted yacht and a fifty-foot motor launch were smashed against the pier of the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

MAN DROWNED

At Atlantic City, where the gale pushed the tide three feet above normal, Frank Ingersoll was reported washed overboard from a boat in Great Bay and drowned.

Blind by the driving rain when his motorcycle skidded on a wet pavement in Newark and was struck by a truck, Otto Infield received a fracture of the skull and died.

Wrecks and washouts on the Pennsylvania Railroad disrupted service on the Ocean City, Wildwood and Stone Harbor branches.

R. Davis Forgets His Anniversary But Friends Don't

Jasper National Park, Alta., Sept. 20.—No man can escape his past. If you don't believe that ask Irvin S. Cobb, noted humorist, and Bob Davis of The New York Sun, whose daily column, "Bob Davis Recalls," fascinates and delights a million readers a day.

Here, in the heart of the Canadian Rockies, where both of them are seeking to escape the seductions of the crowd, Kismet hit them on the button last night and knocked them both out for the count of ten. Twenty-nine years ago, Bob Davis, then a struggling reporter, who knew a great deal less about human nature and golf than he does to-day, stood up at the altar with a beautiful young woman. Supporting him was Irvin Cobb, equally as unknown.

She of the trio was the only one to remember what had happened twenty-nine years ago this date. She happened to mention the fact to a friend in Jasper Park Lodge. The friend was Walter Pratt, general manager of the hotel system of the Canadian National Railway, an bachelor and therefore more sentimental in these matters than a benedict.

He invited the unsuspecting trio to a dinner last night and administered the knockout blow to the man who can recall everything except his wedding anniversary, by planting down before him and Mrs. Davis a three-layer wedding cake with cranberry blossoms, bells, hearts, and all the other paraphernalia before which women worship and strong men shudder.

They Strive to Outdo Each Other

From The Toronto Globe

The two morning papers of this city are devoted breath, body and bones to an extreme imperialism, to the exclusion of Canadianism almost entirely. They think of it, talk of it, dream of it. It is all in all to them. To them Canada is but a colony and must never be one, and any affection they have for her is solely on account of the fact that she is a British colony. That is all there is to her. She is of no account herself outside or apart from her relationship to a country that is truly great. The notion that Canadians should have or desire to have any native pride of country of their own is alarming to them. They never say, nor would they wish anybody ever to say, "this is my own native land," for the words of the poet would be perverse to true imperialism. The Mail and Empire is sure and The Globe of to-day is sure, that there is something about a London fog that makes it infinitely superior to the clearest sunshine ever seen in Canada. Both the morning papers in this city must deeply regret the error that was made, unthinkingly, by some of the men of their present generation. They must regret that it was not named the Imperial Exhibition or the British North American Fair. The fact that it is called the Canadian National Exhibition must puff up the people of this country with the notion that they are about to see something that would never do. They must always feel like nobody, but ever rejoice in the glorious thought that they are distantly related to somebody.

The other day The Mail and Empire had an editorial in which it rather assumed that the people who inhabit Canada had been sent here during the last two or three centuries. That great trouble and expense by the ruling classes of England in order to build up and extend the bounds of the wide and glorious Empire. Certain commitments to the pioneers have been dedicated of late in this province, and in each case the fact has been pretty well brought out that most of our pioneers crossed the sea to get a living and to feed their families, which they had been unable to do in Britain. There was no flamboyant Empire building in the migration of Scotch crofters who were ejected in order to make room for deer forests, nor of evicted Irish tenants, nor of those families, English, Irish, Scotch and Welsh, who spent all they owned to cross the sea and new homes for themselves in the Ontario bush. There was no political flapdoodle about their migration at all. They dared everything to seek homes in the new world where their children could be fed and would have a chance to get on. And if their children's children love the land that bred them, it is well and good.

The two morning papers like to suggest that The Star is separatist, bolshevist, or anything that is reprehensible because it is a Canadian paper. Why should there not be a Canadian paper on this Canadian half-continent? We believe in British condescension as much as anybody does, but on a self-respecting basis of equality of citizenship, and not on the old colonial basis of one country belonging to the other. That is over and done with and no political respirator can pump life into it again.

On one day recently the two morning papers discussed trade. One scored the Liberal Government at Ottawa because our tariff was not letting in enough British goods. The other morning paper, equally imperialistic, scored the Government because it is letting in so much British goods that our own industries are suffering. They should, and probably will, take turn and turn about in the use of these respective arguments. They must score the Government for something. It is a Canadian Government.

SECRET INQUIRY AGAINST ORDERS

Ottawa Repudiates Method
Followed at Victoria Plane
Investigation

The Federal Government has flatly repudiated responsibility for the secret character of the recent inquiry here into the loss of the B.C. Airways passenger liner. In a communication received by Attorney-General Pooley the Department of National Defence made the surprising revelation that it had specifically instructed the official board making the inquiry to admit W. C. Moresby, K.C., counsel for the Provincial Government. Mr. Moresby was refused admission by the board after he had made a protest and Mr. Pooley immediately telegraphed an emphatic objection to Ottawa.

While the Ottawa authorities thus blame the inquiry board for the rejection of Mr. Moresby, they have made no move so far to shed any light on the proceedings of the investigation as urged by Mr. Pooley. The Attorney-General had asked for a copy of all evidence taken so that his department would be informed on phases of the airplane accident of vital concern to it. Up to the present no copy of the evidence has been received. All that Mr. Pooley has got in answer to telegraphic requests in a letter from the Department of National Defence, declaring that it had ordered the admission of the B.C. counsel.

The letter, as given out here to-day, said: "Inquiries of this nature are generally treated as private inquiries for the information of the minister, and are not courts of trial. The Department, however, would have no objection to the representative of the Provincial Government attending the inquiry and the chairman of the board (the inquiry board) was so informed by wire."

Officials here are at a loss to understand this conflict of official views and Mr. Pooley is still trying to secure copies of the evidence.

Meanwhile the B.C. Airways, having passed a resolution welcoming a public inquiry, is holding up any action to recommence commercial flying operations.

CAMPAIGN IN U.S. GAINS HEADWAY

Republicans Open Fight in Michigan; Democrats Campaign in Kansas

Detroit, Sept. 20.—Describing Herbert Hoover as "one of the greatest administrators of all time," whose achievements "are among the miracles of the war," United States Senator William Borah of Idaho opened the Republican campaign in Michigan here last night.

Of the campaign, he said: "The issues of this campaign are the immediate, imminent, everyday home problems, such as farm relief, cheaper transportation, development of our waterways, control of our rivers, simplification of government, a public utilities policy, conservation of electric power, clean government and the maintenance of our constitution as the people have written it, the enforcement of law, the protection of American industry and American labor and kindred present living vital issues."

Kansas City, Kas., Sept. 20.—Denouncing Herbert Hoover, even to the point of challenging his sincerity in returning to the United States here, Senator James A. Reed of Missouri spoke at the opening of the Democratic national campaign in Kansas here last night.

Referring to the Republican candidate for the United States Presidency, Senator Reed said:

"If we had not entered the World War I firmly believe that Herbert Hoover never would have returned to the United States to live. His house, his interests, his fortune, all were British. He never cast a vote in the United States, until after he was forty-six years old. He was old enough to vote in 1896, but did not vote until 1921."

"The Republicanism of Mr. Hoover has been challenged by some of the leading men of the Republican Party. He has been denounced as pro-British by men of his own party. In 1920 he ran in the primaries of five states on the Democratic ticket and carried Michigan."

Senator Reed declared Mr. Hoover left this country when he was twenty-three years old to go to Australia in the employ of an English concern. Then he traveled in the South Sea Islands and obtained that brand upon him, the senator said.

"Not content then, he went to China, where he acquired the brand of the Chinese dragon," he said. "He established his home in London. He remained there twenty-two years. Now and then he made flying trips to this country."

Turning to his favorite subject, Republican corruption, Senator Reed said that as a member of the Cabinet eight years, Mr. Hoover knew of the wholesale scandal that was going on. "He knew valuable oil lands were being stolen from the United States," Senator Reed declared. "He knew Fall and Denby conspired to turn the oil lands into corrupt hands, but he never opened his mouth in protest."

"Mr. Hoover knew what was going on in the 'little green house' in Washington where Jess Smith and Daugherty parcelled out influence, but he said nothing."

LADY DELEGATES ARE ENTERTAINED

Women's Auxiliary Fete
Members of Amputations'
Association

The lady delegates of the Amputations Association, which closed its annual convention in this city last night, were entertained earlier in the week by the Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion in the Pro Patria Branch Hall, Courtney Street. The president and vice-presidents of the Britannia Branch, the Pro Patria Branch and the Tubercular Veterans, which assisted in the entertainment, officiated as a reception committee and welcomed the visitors. Prizes for the card games were won by visiting ladies. A short musical programme was given by members of the local branches. The Misses Charlebois played a piano duet, while Mrs. McInnis pleased the gathering with a vocal solo. Miss Florence Collins and Miss Jessie Jones contributed piano numbers. Preceding the programme, Mrs. Thorne, who officiated as chairman, gave an address of welcome to the delegates. During the evening, Captain Lambert, Dominion president of the Amputations Association visited the hall and expressed his appreciation of the Victoria branches' work in caring for the lady delegates. In 1818 one Bowdler published an expurgated edition of Shakespeare, hence arose the verb to bowdlerize.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

AN ALLOWANCE A NECESSARY PART OF CHILD'S EDUCATION

Mrs. A. F. writes: "What is your opinion of giving children an allowance? I believe it to be one of the best ways to teach a child how to save and handle money. I simply would not tolerate a whiny child who came into the house every few minutes with 'Ma-ma, I want a penny. I want a nickel to buy an ice cream cone.' I have only one child, eight months and I haven't any children; but I'm starting to collect ideas on child training. I realize that some of my pet theories will be burst, and I do know that each child is different and has to be trained accordingly."

"The other day I ventured to express my opinion on the allowance business and my father-in-law snapped at me: 'Why should a child be given an allowance, pray?'"

"My husband was very easy to raise, according to his mother, and never asked or needed money, but if my child is anything like me he will always be wanting and wishing, and I want to curb that before he has the trouble I have had with my extravagant nature which has been catered to all my life."

ANSWER
An allowance is a necessary part of a child's education for living. How can he learn to save until he has learned to spend? How can money mean anything to him so long as it comes whenever he asks for it, or until he has been able to manipulate it himself? Let your father-in-law answer those questions. Did he learn to manage a spoon or fork by being fed? Not by any means; he learned the art when he took his own spoon in his own hand. Children must learn that money has a value and they'll learn that only by seeing what it will buy, what saving will accomplish, and how denial may bring luxuries later. They'll never learn that if luxuries are showered upon them with the prodigality of leaves from a tree. Keeping a child without pocket money in a group of children who have allowances may lead a child to stealing in order to be like his companions. I felt very badly when my own son told me that his allowance, the same for two years, was not as large as any boy in his crowd and asked me if I couldn't allow him more each week. I was ashamed for having to be told. I should have known his needs better. He saves a great deal more on his new allowance because his old one was not sufficient for his needs, and there wasn't enough surplus. The child should have the privilege of handling money, and derive his own satisfaction from doing it wisely. He gets no satisfaction at his parents' economy, nor does he learn anything by being told. That is obvious. From the time a child begins to know that money can be spent he should have his own pocketbook, his own pennies each week, and be allowed to make his mistakes on pennies and not later, perhaps disastrously, with dollars.

NANCY PAGE

HAT STANDS BLOSSOM LIKE A SUMMER GARDEN
By Florence La Gank

Lots was so thrilled over her clothes closets that she called Nancy on every occasion to tell her of her latest find. This time it was hat stands and coverings. "Do you know, Nancy, I found the most adorable hat stands of wood. They are made with plain wide base and slender rod. But the rod is topped with wood cut into the shape of flowers. These flowers are lacquered in color, the stem and base are green. You have no idea how gay they make the shelf look. I stand there and quote, 'Mistress Mary, quite contrary,' until Roger thinks I have lost my mind."

"Then they have new coverings to slip over the hats when they are on the stand. I have seen them made of glazed tartan like the newest dress cover bags. But they could be made of glazed chintz. They take a piece of goods, thirty-two inches wide and thirteen inches deep. It is sewed so that you have a tube. Fold the case in halves and then in halves again. This gives a piece thirteen inches high and eight inches wide. Starting seven inches from bottom round the material on each side toward top. Bind bottom and cut sections so that you have a case resembling the old wicker butter screen which used to keep flies off food. Slip over hat when on stand. A loop of binding may be sewed at top to use in lifting case from hat. I am making a set for Agnes's wedding present."

Two Wins For Giants Over Cards Will Give Them Fighting Chance

New York and St. Louis Set for Crucial Series at Polo Grounds, Which May Tie Up National League Race Until End of Season; Giants, With Good Record Against Cards, Are Figured to Take Two Out of Three; No Games Played in Majors Yesterday Due to Rain and Schedules

The Giants prepared to defend their home citadel against a double onslaught from the Cardinals to-day, though the weather-wise thought rain would halt action. Moisture might blur the glory of the greatest National League pennant race in this city since the Giants and Pirates had it out for 1925 late in August of that year, but rain to-day would not be altogether unwelcome to John Joseph McGraw.

A postponement would mean merely that the two games could be played to-morrow or otherwise open date, and this would enable the little Napoleon to pick Carl Hubbell, Larry Benton and Fred Fitzsimmons against Willie Sherdel, Alex. The Great and Clarence Mitchell.

Two out of three for the home force, victors eleven times in eighteen games against the Cardinals this season would leave the Giants in a fighting position, one game from the top, and might defer final decision of the National league until the last day of the season, when the Cardinals are scheduled to return to the Polo Grounds for a single game on September 30. Despite gloomy forecasts about the weather, the fans of the metropolis prepared for an early rally against the Polo Grounds turnstiles.

ALL TEAMS IDLE
Not a wheel moved in the major circuits yesterday. American League teams were enjoying a scheduled day off as a hurricane from Florida swept the National League schedule clean. Double-headers were immediately arranged by Boston and Philadelphia. The Braves now must entertain the Reds six times in three days, while the Phillies will double with the Pirates on Saturday.

The postponed game between New York and Chicago probably will be disposed of in a bargain attraction at the Polo Grounds next Thursday, when the Cubs return to the metropolis to complete their schedule.

YANKS LOOK GOOD
As the Yankees prepared to resume their warfare against the Athletics to-day, the New York team seemed all but "in" for its third straight pennant and its sixth in eight years, but it is hard to forget the spectacle furnished in St. Louis just two days ago of the entire first string pitching crop of a world's champion baseball club on parade through the box seats in a game where the champions themselves gathered fourteen runs.

The Yankees, two games ahead, now figure by great odds, as the Cardinals would figure were the stubborn Giants not placed in their path. But Connie Mack is going to give up the fight for this pennant only when his chances are mathematically dead and buried. One naturally dies hard after fourteen years of waiting.

AGAINST CHICAGO
The champions were to open a three-game series against the admittedly hostile White Sox in Chicago to-day, while the Mackmen were drawn against Detroit for the same purpose. Much more may be known about the pennant after the current series are played.

WINNIPEG TEAM TAKES LACROSSE TITLE OF WEST

Defeats Edmonton 13-1 in Sudden-death Game For Right to Play East

Winnipeg, Sept. 20.—The Wellingtons of Winnipeg are the lacrosse champions of Western Canada and will journey to Ottawa to meet the Emmerts, eastern titleholders, in the finals of the Mann Cup, emblematic of the Dominion championship.

In a sudden-death match to decide the western championship here last night, the Wellingtons played to their reputation and swamped the Native Sons of Edmonton by a score of 13 to 1. The Sons were outclassed throughout and their failure in every branch of the game proved a surprising revelation to the local fans. By agreement only three regulation periods were played. In the first Winnipeg had a 4-0 lead, increased it to 10 to 1 in the second, and added three more goals in the final. Edmonton scored their lone goal in the second frame.

The teams follow:
Winnipeg: Wellingtons—Johnson, Mattland, Alexander, Shaw, Stuart, Lawrence, H. Neil, Coultry, B. Hardy, M. Hardy, Buckingham, G. Neil, Spares, Thomson, Frederickson and H. Murphy.

SIDNEY WINS COMMERCIAL BALL HONORS

Take Sudden-death Game From Tillicums By 5-4 Score; Comedy of Errors

Scoring practically all their runs through their opponents' errors, the Sidney baseball team won the Commercial League Championship from the Tillicums at the Royal Athletic Park last night by a score of 5-4. "Lefty" Campbell, star Tillicum twirler, pitched fine ball throughout the game, but was let down by his teammates in the pinches.

The only run in the first three innings was scored by Sidney in the first. The first three men up, Times, Simpson and Brown, were safe and the bases were loaded.

When Campbell tried to get Times at the third catch was muffed and Times scored.

Sidney's big bid was made in the fourth. Steele was safe on an error and Darbyshire walked. Williams's grounder forced Steele at third, but the third baseman, trying to make a double play, threw wildly to second and the runners advanced a base.

The Tillicums, rallying in the fifth, scored three runs and evened the score. Lowe hit out a crisp two-bagger, and Barnswell singled. A Hilton also delivered a timely single scoring, Lowe, Barnswell, on the same hit, was out coming in. McLaren sacrificed, sending Hilton to second. Barr's grounder to third, Wade Steele retired from the box in favor of Williams, who retired the runner.

The winning run, scored in the first half of the sixth, was due to two fielding errors, following Williams's single.

The Tillicums lost a great chance in the last half of the eighth. C. Hilton doubled to left and was advanced to third on McLaren's sacrifice. But Steele and Lowe were both caught out, and the game was called on account of darkness.

Delaney-Tassi Bout Postponed; To Go To-night

New York, Sept. 20.—The fifteen-round bout between Jack Delaney, Bridgeport, Conn., former world's light-heavyweight champion, and Tassi, scheduled for last night at Ebbets Field, was postponed because of rain. It will be held to-night, weather permitting.

Abe Mitchell Is Eliminated

Stoke Poles, Eng., Sept. 20.—Abe Mitchell, famous long distance hitter of the British links, who was favorite to win the tournament was yesterday's victim of another of the series of upsets that marked the New of the World golf tournament here. In the second round Mitchell bowed to an unknown professional, Isherwood, of Warrington. Mitchell, the fifth noted British pro to meet defeat in the first two rounds of the event.

HE GAVE BOBBY A TOUGH FIGHT.—"I'm really glad you won, Bobby," Ray Gorton (right) is saying to Bobby Jones here. Jones had just eliminated Gorton from the national amateur golf championship at West Newton, Mass. But Gorton forced Bobby to his first extra hole match since 1916.

These two players are Victoria's representatives in the professional section of the British Columbia championship matches which started to-day on the course of the Shaughnessy Heights Golf Club in Vancouver. The pros will play seventy-two holes a side, the winners of the tournament and of the cash prize offered. Amateurs are also playing, with Goldwyn Terry as Victoria's best bet for the title.

JUVENILE RACES TO FEATURE MEET

Some of Canada's Finest Two-year-olds to Run at Toronto, Starting Saturday

Toronto, Sept. 20.—The premier racing meet of the Fall season will open at beautiful Woodbine Park here when the Ontario Jockey Club runs off its final programme. The two-year-old championship of Canadian-breds will probably be decided in the running of the important races for juveniles, that are scheduled during the week following, while at the same time the favorite for next spring's King's Plate, Canada's derby, will emerge from the racing of the two-year-olds. The Seagram Stable at present has a commanding advantage in this division with Tuberosa and Circle, crack juveniles.

The Coronation Stakes at six furlongs and the Grey Stakes at a mile, each having $5,000 added money, are the features for the two-year-olds. Besides this division, many important stake races for older horses will be decided.

EXTERMINATOR WON

The Toronto Autumn Cup, handicap at a mile and a quarter, has $10,000 added. This race has been won by many celebrated horses. The great Exterminator won it in 1920, 1921 and 1922 for Willis Sharpe Kilmer, carrying the heavy imposts of 132, 137 and 132 pounds. F. Musante's My Dear, queen of the turf during her time, was the winner in 1923. Halcyon, one of the finest racers ever bred in Canada, was the victor in Commander Ross's colors in 1924. The Jock's Horse won in 1925 while the famous Seagram stable captured the race in 1926 and 1927 with Edisto and Gaffman. Both Edisto and Gaffman are entered again this year and are reported in fit condition.

The Stanley Produce Stakes for three-year-olds at 1 1/4 miles will be run on September 26 and will have a value this year of $14,000, of which $1,500 goes to the second horse, $500 to the third and $250 to the fourth. Winners of this outstanding event since the war are Woodbine, Sagamore, Chioris, Prismar, Verna, Duchess, Tatling and Whiskery. Some of the leading three-year-olds in America are eligible this year but it would be no surprise if the race was captured by a horse already on the grounds. Outstanding among these perhaps is the fine black filly, Young Kitty, owned by the Seagram stable, last year's two-year-old champion and easy winner of this year's King's Plate.

The O. J. C. Autumn programme features long-distance racing and steeplechasing. This is the only track in Canada where the steeplechase horses perform. Feature races are the Woodbine Autumn Steeplechase at two miles with $5,000 added, and the Hendrie Memorial Steeplechase with $6,000 added, at three miles.

Football Notes

With all six teams playing, the Victoria Senior Football League will swing into action on Saturday. The draw for the opening rounds is as follows:

Victoria West vs. Westholme Hotel at Beacon Hill.

All game start at 8 o'clock.

Victoria City will on Saturday appear in a new set of sweaters, donated to the club by Joe Elsom, a well-known figure in the soccer world here, and this year elected president of the league.

BURNS TO REPORT

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 20.—George Burns, former Cleveland first baseman, has reconsidered his refusal to report to the New York Yankees who had purchased him at the waiver price.

Burns said he would call upon the Hugmen at Chicago to-day to talk things over.

BOWLERS TO MEET

The annual meeting of the City and Commercial Bowling Leagues will be held at the Arcade Alley, Pemberton Building, to-morrow at 8:30 p.m. Plans for the coming season, election of officers, and many other important matters will be brought before the meeting.

BANQUET ENDS AMPUTATIONS' PARLEY HERE

Amalgamation With Canadian Legion Refused But Negotiations to Continue

Capt. S. E. Lambert Re-elected For Seventh Term as President

The convention of the Amputations Association of Canada closed last night with a banquet at the Empress Hotel ballroom, attended by nearly 400 members and prominent citizens, and tendered the delegates by the Victoria branch of the Amputations Association.

Among the guests were Premier S. F. Tolmie, Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Gen. Sir Percy Lake, Commander Nelles, R.C.N., Brig.-Gen. A. MacNaughton, D.O.C., M.D., Alderman Joseph B. Clearhouse and C. Elwood Watkins.

Winners at the swimming gala, held at the Crystal Garden on Monday evening, were called forward to receive their prizes from the hands of Mrs. Lambert, wife of President Lambert, assisted by Mrs. J. Davey, president of the Victoria branch.

The convention presented a silver tea service to Mr. and Mrs. Holden of Regina, newly weds who were attending the convention while on their honeymoon.

Gen. Sir Percy Lake was called upon to present to Capt. S. E. Lambert a gift of silverware, in appreciation of seven years of service and in recognition of his birthday. Rounds of cheering marked the event, followed by singing of "He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, M.P.P., proposed the toast to "Fallen Comrades," stressing the unflinching cheerfulness and courage with which they had paid the price of the Empire's freedom.

Viewing the vast agriculture and manufacturing resources of the Canada of to-day, thoughtful men are compelled to see a vision of the great land that is to be in the years to come.

Mr. Myers said, summoning his hearers to their feet to sing "O Canada."

H. H. Parry of Vancouver, responding to the toast, said Canada should be thought of in a serious way, pointing to the vast resources of the country, the greatest being the calibre of its citizenship. He reminded his hearers that the men of Canada had gone overseas to compel attention to justice and respect for honor, and believed that the amputations members would always stand for such fundamentals.

"Although the high standard of Canadian citizenship had long been established, never was it so emphasized as in those days following 1914," he said in conclusion.

C. J. Brown of Toronto proposed the toast to the "Province of British Columbia," declaring the Eastern delegates to have been greatly impressed by their visit. "We could not help but be amazed by the vastness of your mountains and forests, seen from our special trains," he said, declaring the delegates would bear home wonderful tales of this Province and the beauties of the city of Victoria. He recalled that Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, a Victorian, had brought honor to Canada and in recent weeks Percy Williams of Vancouver had done likewise in a peaceful role.

SIXTY-HOUR SWIM MRS. HUDDLESTON'S GOAL—A sixty-hour swim was the goal of Mrs. Myrtle Huddleston when she plunged into a pool at Coney Island, N.Y., and struck out with long, easy strokes. Mrs. Huddleston's previous record of 54 hours 32 minutes was broken recently, Lee Fourrier moving the mark up to 58 hours.

reply, was accorded rounds of cheers, and the delegates rose and sang "He's a Jolly Good Fellow," followed by more cheers.

"We have in British Columbia a wonderful land, I hope you have gained some small conception of what we have to offer," he said, extending a warm welcome to "you fragments from France who sacrificed yourselves for Canada."

He was confident that Victoria had well entertained the delegates.

Touching upon the development of British Columbia since 1870, Dr. Tolmie recalled that the "wise men of the East" in those days had dubbed this Province a "sea of mountains." He believed that the real wise men of the East saw the light and came West.

Dr. Tolmie stated that British Columbia is larger than France, Germany and Switzerland combined, and owned more than half the commercial timber of Canada. He pointed out that the Province is insulated from northern and southern boundaries, told of the riches of the fisheries and the vast areas of land awaiting use for ranching and cultivation.

The Premier told of the ice-free ports of this Province and the potential market developing in the Orient for the products of British Columbia. The equable climate of Victoria "was comparable with that of southern England, where the finest men are developed, with the additional advantage of 400 hours more sunshine each year."

Touching upon immigration as experienced by British Columbia, Dr. Tolmie told of the scorned remittance men of pre-war years, who rushed to the colors at the call of duty, earned honor for their adopted land, and in many cases paid the ultimate price.

"Some of our very best stock is laid on this British foundation," he stated, pointing out that this Province urgently needs more population to aid in development of its great resources.

VICTORIA PRAISED

The toast to the city of Victoria was proposed by Capt. E. A. Baker of Toronto, secretary of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

"Victoria needs no compliments," Victoria speaks for itself. Every time I come to Victoria I learn to love it more and more. Victoria seems to be the ideal spot. I ask you to drink the toast to Victoria, the gem of the West in the diadem of Canada," he said.

Alderman Joseph B. Clearhouse replied on behalf of Mayor Carl Pendray, called from town. He stated that Victoria is honored by the presence of such a gathering of "Fragments from France." He aroused laughter with a solemn warning against undue credence being paid Vancouverites discussing this city. He told of the industrial progress of the city and the willingness of the citizens to encourage new concerns to locate here.

The attractions of Victoria as a tourist resort were mentioned. Golf is played each day of the year, and many charming young ladies should be of interest to Eastern bachelors, Alderman Clearhouse considered.

HAPPY SPIRIT

Col. C. W. Peck, V.C., M.P.P., proposed the toast to the Amputations Association, congratulating the members upon a most successful convention. He considered the organization of the association a singularly happy idea, unique in its exclusiveness, which the unqualified show no desire to enter. He praised the jovial optimism of the members, and remarked upon the impending tenth anniversary of the Armistice, when comrades he had met in France would be remembered with tender emotions.

Capt. S. E. Lambert, president, said the association was highly honored by a toast proposed by Col. Peck. V.C. He thanked Premier Tolmie for his presence and tendered the thanks of the delegates to Victoria for the hospitality accorded. Capt. Lambert said the association was dedicated to the preservation of the great ideals of Canada, which had blossomed at the call of duty in the great days of war. He submitted that such ideals make life worth living, giving a buoyancy of spirit, and believed that those coming after the amputations, although they may know nothing of war, would benefit. "We are not like Agnes MacPhail, she knows nothing of war, she therefore has no right to talk of peace. We are men of peace, but let me say, you tread on the coat tails of the British Empire and you would promptly hear from the old Amputations again. We would rather have died if something good had not come of our sacrifices. Greater love hath no man than this, that he lay down his life for his friend." That has been our guiding principle," he said, declaring "what we need in this country is men of the bulldog breed that made old England's fame."

W. S. Dodds, Toronto, proposed the toast to the "Navy and the Army," and the "Royal Air Force." Commander Nelles responded on behalf of the Canadian navy. Brig.-Gen. MacNaughton, D.O.C., replied for the military forces.

A toast to "Kindred Organizations" was proposed by Victoria's M.P.P. and replied to by J. H. Despard Twiss, M.P.P., on behalf of the Canadian Legion, who regretted that no amalgamation had been effected from the convention. He was confident that sympathetic co-operation would mark the work for the benefit of ex-service men. Commanders Dodds of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada also responded.

Between the speeches, A. B. Taylor, a blind Vancouverian, introduced a group of tenor solos, and George Ingledew, Capt. C. F. L. Money and others contributed numbers.

OFFICERS NAMED

The election of officers took place yesterday afternoon, the following being the selection:

President—Capt. S. E. Lambert, Toronto, re-elected for his seventh term

First vice-president—A. Palmer, Victoria.

Second vice-president—Harvey Gendron, Montreal.

Secretary-treasurer—A. Sutcliffe, Toronto, re-elected.

Executive committee—Alberta, W. E. Davies, Edmonton; Saskatchewan, Agnes Blain, Regina; Manitoba, T. B. Chetiv, Winnipeg; Ontario, C. J. Brown, R. Myers, E. A. Baker, Toronto.

Montreal was unanimously chosen as the convention city for 1929.

Following rejection of immediate amalgamation with the Canadian Legion, the executive was instructed to receive proposals of unity from the Canadian Legion, interview Dominion officers of other ex-service bodies, and report to the next convention at Montreal.

Tells Convention Of B. C.'s Bid For Trade Of Pacific

P. B. Fowler, President of Victoria Chamber of Commerce, Is Speaker at Foreign Trade Convention in Los Angeles; Gives Facts and Figures on British Columbia Industries

Los Angeles, Sept. 20.—British Columbia's possibilities for universal foreign trade were emphasized in a forceful address by P. B. Fowler, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce at the Pacific Foreign Trade Convention here yesterday. Dealing with British Columbia's part in the foreign trade of the Pacific Coast, he pointed out the Province's unique geographical position and emphasized the fact that it possessed the only Pacific ports in the whole of Canada. Mr. Fowler's speech follows: "British Columbia, the most western province of the Dominion of Canada, has from its geographical position unique possibilities for universal foreign trade. On the one hand it possesses the only Pacific ports in the whole of Canada and thus controls the major part of the exports and imports arising out of trade with Japan, China, Australia and New Zealand, and on the other hand, through the benefits conferred upon it by the Panama Canal, common to the whole of the Pacific Coast, has all the Atlantic ports, including those in the Caribbean Sea and East Coast of South America, open to the waterborne commerce arising from the Province itself and as far back into Alberta and Saskatchewan as the differential on overland transportation rates will allow.

BASIC INDUSTRIES

The privilege position, set out above, would be of little value if we were not in a position to make use of it, and it is interesting to note what is happening to our basic industries, which in the final analysis are the keynote of our ability in having an exportable surplus. Production in our total basic industries for the year 1928 aggregated a sum of $250,726,160, or an increase of 101.3 per cent over the year 1916. To double our capacity in the short period of ten years, part of which was handicapped by the man strength of the country being engaged in the World War and the aftermath of business depression, is no mean accomplishment, and it is interesting to note the means of our progression.

The Province of British Columbia possesses the greater part of the softwood supply of Canada, and the products of our forest naturally take the first place in our industrial life, and it with allied industries employs 40,000 men with a total annual payroll of $50,000,000. The total value of this source, including pulp and paper production, amounted to $63,087,000 in 1927, or an increase of 133.8 per cent over the year 1916. Of the lumber cut, of some 3,000,000,000 feet, 740,238,330 feet were exported by sea to various parts of the world, the United States taking the lion share of 392,074,528 feet, Japan, Australia and the United Kingdom following in the order named.

PULP AND PAPER

"I feel that pulp and paper production requires a little more than passing comment, as the United States of America are our large customers in this product. Indeed, it was recently said that one out of every two newspapers published in the United States is printed on Canadian-made paper. It is very little more than a dozen years since this industry came to life in British Columbia, and it is proving a most thriving one. There are seven pulp or paper mills, which in the year 1928 had an output of $16,315,000, where ten years ago $3,520,000 covered the total production. I have not the value in dollars of the 1927 production, but it consisted of 266,253 tons of wood pulp, 214,010 tons of newsprint and 13,745 tons of other papers.

AGRICULTURE

"Agriculture takes second place in our basic industries and has progressed remarkably during the last decade. Last year it accounted for $76,999,269, as against $32,182,915 in the year 1916, the major increases occurring in live stock, poultry and dairy products, fruits and fodder, a significant feature being that while our agricultural imports increased 24 per cent, our exports increased 160 per cent.

The next item of importance is mining, which had a total production in 1927 of $30,729,358. Metals, etc., produced consisted of coal and coke, copper, lead, silver, zinc, structural materials and miscellaneous minerals, their position in value being in the order named. Last year British Columbia took first place in the production of the following metals in Canada: silver, copper and lead, and second in gold.

FISHERIES

"Another important industry is our fisheries, whose product amounted to $23,277,904 in 1927. There is some $32,000,000 invested in the industry and 20,500 men are employed yearly. Unfortunately the run of salmon and the halibut banks have been seriously depleted, but some compensation in the total amount of our fisheries is being received from a new branch of the industry. This is the manufacture of herring oil and fishmeal, which is being developed on the West Coast of Vancouver Island. There are now some twenty-three refineries in full operation. California takes most of the oil, and the fishmeal is in active demand, finding its way to the world markets, notably Germany and Japan.

"Our oldest industry fur-trapping, commenced some 135 years ago, is still of some importance, and plays its part in our exports, and the industry has taken a new step forward since farms of fur-bearing animals have been established throughout the country. Exports of fur in 1927 amounted to $3,800,000.

GRAIN.
"Earlier in this paper I mentioned the product of Alberta and part of Saskatchewan flowing through British Columbia ports. This refers to grain, and its movement through British Columbia ports has been in increasing volume since the year 1921, when it was found possible to ship it through our ports, open to the year round, to all parts of the world. During the grain year of 1920-1921, 550,000 bushels were shipped, in 1927-1928 grain year 80,254,688 bushels passed through Vancouver elevators for export and 10,000,000 bushels through Prince Rupert elevators. This year there will be a staggering harvest on the Prairies and a much larger volume will tax our elevators to their utmost. There are seven grain elevators in Vancouver, one in Prince Rupert and a new one is about completed in Victoria.

"I am unable to furnish figures covering the exports and imports of British Columbia to the United States in 1927 as no segregation by the Province is kept, but Canada as a whole imported goods to the value of $687,670,042 from the United States and exported $479,331,980. From this it will be seen that we are pretty good neighbors and that the Dominion of Canada ranks high as a customer of the United States of America. As to British Columbia and the world at large, it exported $172,075,161 and imported $84,926,551, well on the right side of the ledger, and not a bad showing for a Province only boasting a population of some 600,000 persons.

TOURISTS

"There is another item I would like to refer to and that is our invisible export, tourist trade. We cannot put in close figures what it brings in to our respective countries each year, but we know it runs to an enormous amount of money. The tourist exchanges his money for scenery, food, shelter, amusement, as well as for other commodities, and there is no depletion of our basic resources in our dealings with him. It is publicity of the very best kind, it makes known our resources and opportunities for capital investment, and we should all get together in a joint campaign to sell the Pacific Coast as a whole, and not as individual states or provinces. As foreign traders we are directly interested in this movement of peoples, owing to its effect on exchanges, and indirectly in its stimulating influence on trade with other countries.

DOUBLED IN TEN YEARS

"In conclusion: Our figures may not appear large as compared with those of you, our Southern neighbors, but as mentioned above the total production from British Columbia's basic industries has doubled in ten years, we

Try this way and get a whiter wash... without boiling or hard rubbing

THERE is now an easier, quicker way of doing the washing—thanks to Rinso.

This new way is as different from grandmother's way as your own styles are different from hers.

And millions of women have proved that this new way is far better.

For them the old days of hard rubbing and boiling are over. Yet nobody has whiter, brighter clothes than they.

Rinso will soak clothes clean. It is a granulated soap which makes rich, quick-cleansing suds, even in hard water.

Simply let clothes soak in the Rinso suds, then, with no boiling even the most soiled parts become spotless with little or no rubbing.

Rinso will save you hours of hard work each wash day. Use it in hard or soft water, wash-tub or machine. Your nearest grocer has Rinso.

CITY BUILDING NEARING MARK OF $2,000,000

Nine Months' Total For Greater Victoria is $1,500,-
000

New Apartment Block and Two Stores Are Planned

The 1928 building programme for Greater Victoria is climbing once more towards the $2,000,000 mark. After a high tide in building totals recorded last year, when Christ Church Cathedral and other large undertakings were placed under way, it was thought that building figures would slow down. The contrary, however, has been true.

The volume and value of new work placed under construction has upheld even the mark of 1927, and Greater Victoria has every prospect of recording another $2,000,000 building year on its books.

Already Victoria and its municipal neighbors are past the $1,500,000 mark this year, with three and one-half months yet to go. Building in the city alone to date has rolled up a total of $947,316, expended on work completed or now under way. Oak Bay and Saanich are breasting the 1927 figures, and Esquimalt has seen considerable work started.

Business permits added to the list this week include a $20,000 apartment block at 1326 Yates Street, which will be two stories high and contain twenty-two rooms. It is being built for J. Moxon, who was associated with the fine new apartment block built on Church Hill this spring.

NEW STORES PLANNED

Harry R. Leech, who stepped into Victoria a few years ago in a speculative mood, is building a $10,000 store block on Port Street at Verrinder Avenue. P. J. Hobson, another visitor who became convinced of Victoria's future within the last few years, and who is a heavy holder of property in the district, has plans prepared for a store building at the Foul Bay car terminus, subject to the approval of the zoning board.

Residential building, in a class by itself, has shown a continued spurt this year, with whole areas changing their appearance under the hands of building trades. September permits in the city to date are up eighty per cent. over the corresponding period of last year.

Islands

An unfortunate accident befell Theodore Trage of Fulford while cutting and stacking poles on Pender Island, one of the poles rolled, causing his axe to slip and enter his left foot. He was rushed by launch to the Jubilee Hospital, Victoria, where hope is held out that amputation may be avoided. The latest word is that he is progressing favorably.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Lawson of Ottawa, arrived here on the Ss. Charnier. They will be the guests during their visit of a few weeks of Mr. Lawson's brother, Dr. E. H. Lawson of Ganage.

W. Cearley has returned to the Island from the West Coast of Vancouver Island.

Miss Olive Rogers, who has been teaching in the North, will take charge of the Beaver Point School, Salt Spring Island, for this term.

Mrs. A. Lacey, who has been a patient at the Lady Minto Hospital, Ganage, returned to her home on Isabella Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearce have arrived here from Vancouver and will make their home at Fulford Harbor.

Mrs. Tingley and Miss Eve Tingley of Victoria, have been visiting the Island, the guests of Mrs. Compton Kingsbury, Ganage.

Miss F. Wotten, who has been a guest at Harbor House, Ganage, has returned to Victoria.

Mrs. Hewling and her two daughters, Gladys and Dora, who have been camping on Cranberry Mountain for a month, have returned to town.

Master Rosell Smith, who has been staying with Mr. Weight for the last two months, left on the Ss. Charnier on Thursday for Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Stewart, who have been staying on the Island, have left for their home at Breeds Cross Road, Saanich.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cearley were recent visitors to Victoria, going over in their boat from Fulford Harbor.

Mr. Harry Noon of North Salt Spring was a visitor to Victoria on Friday.

Mrs. Howard Horel was a passenger to Vancouver recently, spending a few hours in Victoria en route.

Mr. Gaily and a party of friends from Victoria, came over by launch for the shooting season, and are camping up in the Cranberry Mountains.

Dr. Walter Bapty, who has been staying with Mr. Brantford on the mountain for a few days shooting, left for his home in Victoria on Monday.

Dr. E. H. Lawson of Ganage, with Mr. and Mrs. E. Lawson, spent Monday in Victoria, going over by launch.

Mr. J. Sparrow was a visitor to Victoria for a few days.

Captain McBride left on Monday for Victoria en route for Vancouver where he will visit friends for a week.

F. Cudmore, who recently leased a piece of waterfrontage from R. McBride, has started building.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Abbott, who have spent the summer at their camp on Ganage Harbor, have left for their home in Victoria.

Beales and Mrs. E. Hallier, of this city; also a brother in Australia.

and a brother and three sisters in Scotland. He was a member of Premier Lodge No. 1910 L.O.L. and also of the Knights and Dames of the Thistle. The remains are at McCall Brothers Funeral Home. Announcement of the funeral will be made later.

The death occurred Tuesday evening of Yuen Yick Hong, aged forty-two years, a native of Canton, China, who came here two months ago. He is survived by his widow, also one brother, Yuen Yick, of 1810 Government Street. The funeral took place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Thompson Funeral Home, 1625 Quadra Street, after which interment was made in the Chinese Cemetery, where the usual Chinese rites were observed.

Dr. Alexander On Training Children

In his lecture on training children at the Chamber of Commerce last night, Dr. Alexander said that the great object should be the development of the character and individuality of the child. To gain this the object should be not to control the child but to teach the child self control. He should be encouraged not nagged. His virtues should be stressed as well as his faults, and he should be made, above all, to understand the consequences of his acts.

The professor held that both arbitrary and natural methods must be used, and showed the ill effects of inductive whipping and coaxing. He will give another free lecture to-night and Friday, and will close his series Monday.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The annual meeting of the Oak Bay Conservative Association will be held at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, September 26, in the association rooms, Campbell Building, for the election of officers for the next year.

A fine of $15 for driving to the common danger, and an additional fine of $5 for failure to produce a driver's license, were levied on Fred Edlison on charges before Magistrate Jay in the city police court to-day.

A decree absolute was granted to Mrs. Ellen Currie, of Courtenay, B.C., suing Alexander Currie for divorce in an action in the Supreme Court to-day, before Mr. Justice Murphy. Mr. and Mrs. Currie were married at Woburn Sands, Buckinghamshire, England, in 1918. C. L. Harrison appeared for the petitioner.

Concrete steps to the sidewalk on Douglas Street, giving an exit and entry to the Empress Hotel on that thoroughfare are being laid this week, linking the Crystal Garden and the hotel together in a more accessible form. A path and trellis work will be made north of the tennis courts to the new exit.

A claim of $450 for damages and depreciation on a piano is sought in the action of Fischer vs. Pye, opening to-day in County Court, with H. A. Beckwith for the plaintiff, Margaret Fischer, an infant, represented by Mrs. A. G. Pye, and A. J. Patton for the defendant, Edward Pye. The hearing is continuing this afternoon.

Suit for $91 for goods supplied was started by the General Distributors Limited, Vancouver, against Thomas Grant, Vancouver, in the County Court here to-day, on an assignment of book credits from a third party. H. W. Davey appears for the plaintiff, who asks payment for the goods and costs.

Allan Crabtree, of the Elton Tabernacle, Winnipeg, who has been giving Bible readings and addresses in the city, will be the preacher at the Gospel Tabernacle of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, Yates Street, on Sunday next, both morning and evening. On Friday evening at 8 o'clock the pastor, Rev. Daniel Walker, will conduct the regular service.

Damages of $3,000 and costs are sought by Charles F. Eyles, 1448 Grant Street, in a writ filed in the Supreme Court in an action against Percy Sherritt, following a motor collision in July last on the Cadboro Bay Road. The plaintiff claims that personal injuries followed the crash which rendered him unable to carry on his business as a real estate agent.

Charged with the theft of a sheet, table cover and other goods from Mrs. S. E. Jones at a hotel where he was employed, Louis Lee was remanded for trial on Tuesday, when called before Magistrate Jay in the City Police Court to-day. The defendant reserved his plea, and was admitted to bail in the sum of $500. Frank Higgins, K.C., appeared for the defence.

Thanks of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce are extended to those who generously placed automobiles at the disposal of passenger agents who visited Victoria Monday. George I. Warren, managing secretary in extending thanks, particularly mentioned the Gray Line, which placed the whole of its equipment at the disposal of the chamber. The Cameron and Calwell organization and the Pickwick Tours also supplied cars.

Jo Laing Wu, accused by a fellow-countryman, Quong Fun, with uttering a threat against him, was arraigned before Magistrate Jay in City Police Court to-day, and remanded on $1,000 cash bail for an appearance on Monday. Stuart Henderson appeared for the defence, and C. L. Harrison for the prosecution. In his complaint, asking that the defendant be bound over to keep the peace, Quong Fun alleged that Jo Laing Wu made use of the words: "I will kill you some day—you cannot get away from that!"

LARGE ASSETS BEHIND ISSUE BY JAMES BAY

Veteran Athletic Association Offers $12,000 Debentures
Immediate Completion of Fine Gorge Property is Objective

To permit immediate development of the Gorge property of the James Bay Athletic Association, an issue of $12,000 of seven per cent first mortgage debentures is being offered for public subscription. Gillespie, Hart & Todd Limited, are handling the issue, which is in denominations of $50 and $100.

The debentures will be for a five-year term, and secured by prior claims on the whole of the property of the Athletic Association. Included in the security are lands and buildings now valued at more than $30,000, boats and other equipment worth $5,000.

PLAN IMPROVEMENTS

Improvements to be financed by the issue include completion of the main club building by construction of reading and recreation rooms, provision of swimming quarters, fencing the five acres of land owned by the association, and development of the grounds, including construction of tennis courts and bowling greens. When these betterments are completed the security behind the $12,000 issue of the debentures will be worth $45,000.

The directors consider that immediate creation of these betterments, with funds raised by a debenture issue, will be a better policy than installation of the improvements from income over a term of years. A great increase in membership is anticipated, bowling and similar attractions are expected to interest senior members of the community.

CHARGES WELL COVERED

Annual carrying charges of the issue will be $840 and the experience of past years show that the profits from dances, regattas, galas and entertainments will be more than sufficient to cover these requirements. James Bay Athletic Association having annually realized over $1,000 from these sources. Membership dues are placed at $3,000 annually, while the annual operating expenses will not exceed $2,500.

INQUEST FOLLOWS LAKE DISASTER

Georgian Bay Arm of Lake Huron Searched For Bodies From Ss. Manasoo

Owen Sound, Sept. 20.—Coroner A. B. Rutherford impelled a jury here to-day to inquire into the cause of the death of Douglas McLean, Steward of the lost steamer Manasoo, whose body was found yesterday off Cape Rich, fifteen miles from the point where the ship foundered last Saturday.

Fourteen men still are missing.

The remains were viewed and an adjournment taken until a later date, when witnesses can be procured.

One tug, the Bayview of Wario, is being kept at work searching Georgian Bay for bodies, while a patrol of the shores will be kept up to-day and as long as there is any possibility of finding any bodies.

One large party is out from Annan, a little hamlet about five miles from Owen Sound, forty beaved in the loss of Donald Ross, son of the United Church minister, and Gordon Baird, whose home was next door to the manse.

Of the twenty-one men who were aboard the steamer, five were rescued and one died of exposure.

The first one is now going in in Montreal, the second will be in Vancouver and Victoria will be the third, he explained. The talking films will be in operation here within the next three or four weeks, he said.

WILL REPORT ON FLUME PROPOSAL

Case For and Against Heard By Chamber Directors at Duncan

Objections and replies to objections on the proposed construction of a twenty-mile flume to carry logs from Cowichan Lake to Cowichan Bay were heard at a conference in Duncan yesterday attended by a committee of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce. It is understood that some of the objections have been swept away but the subject will be one on which a detailed report will be presented at the meeting of Victoria Chamber of Commerce directors to-morrow afternoon.

The meeting was presided over by Dr. D. E. Kerr, past president of the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island. Mr. Smith, president of the Duncan Board of Trade; R. B. Neild, A. Peterson, A. J. Patton and Robert Harvey were present with a committee of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, consisting of B. C. Nicholas, R. H. B. Ker, James Parfitt and George I. Warren, managing secretary.

Mr. Neild set forth objections as outlined in a petition signed by property owners and residents of Duncan. Mr. Patton, for the company proposing to construct the flume, replied to the objections.

ACCIDENTS CAN BE PREVENTED

Percy Abel Tells Rotarians of Death Toll From Carelessness

Percy Abel, charter member and past-president of the Victoria Rotary Club, was the speaker at to-day's luncheon of the Rotarians at the Empress Hotel, his subject being "Prevention of Accidents."

A great field exists for prevention of accidents in factories and on the highways, investigations having proven ninety per cent of all accidents to be preventable, he said.

Citing the Lazard Portland Cement industry Mr. Abel showed that of 150 plants employing 50,000 men, 138 had perfect scores in accident prevention during the last year. Disregard of caution in simple matters daily causes many accidents, while great industries, inherently perilous, are able to operate with safety because of care. Mr. Abel showed the great reduction in accidents in transportation of explosives, a business which was of extreme danger to life and property, having been made notably immune to accidents.

Falls from buildings in construction cause many accidents of preventable type, while drowning causes a majority of deaths among school pupils, to carelessness. Drowning causes more deaths than motor accidents, Mr. Abel said, regretting that knowledge of the means of preventing the drowned was not more general.

Fires cause more than a score of deaths annually in British Columbia, while the "unloaded" gun destroyed thirty-three lives in 1927. Mr. Abel declared that the Provincial Department of Education was interested in promotion among school pupils of knowledge of accident prevention.

Mr. Abel pointed out that preventable motor accidents have taken eight lives in Victoria in the past six months, with nearly thirty major injuries recorded.

CITY CONGRATULATED

Recent statistics showed that traffic conditions are urgently needing improvement, and Mr. Abel congratulated the Victoria and Oak Bay upon initiation of the arterial highway system. He intimated that a campaign might be opened to require number plates on all bicycles possibly without charge, as a means of identification.

He told of recent improvements in traffic in large Eastern cities, following organization of safe drivers' clubs of prominent citizens, accidents having been reduced to a minimum through the activity of such bodies.

Recent amendments to driver's license, without court action, by the Provincial Police, Mr. Abel believed, this power used in conjunction with reports of persistent careless driving filed by safe drivers' clubs, provided a means of improvement of conditions.

CITY MANAGERS INVITED HERE

John Dean is Attending Their Convention at North Carolina

On receipt of advices from John Dean, who is attending the convention, Victoria has sent a cordial invitation to city managers now meeting at Asheville, N.C. to hold their next convention in Victoria. Mr. Dean wired George I. Warren, managing secretary of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, that fifty-five active city managers are attending the convention. Fifty-four associated members and councilors and forty-nine ladies are also in attendance.

The proceedings are forceful and interesting, Mr. Dean wired, and he was particularly impressed with an address by Arthur Collins, eminent English authority in which he lauded the English improved system of municipal accounting and budgeting.

In a cordial wire of invitation, Mr. Warren drew attention to the facilities in Victoria for a convention, excellent hotel accommodation and many other outstanding attractions.

APARTMENT FIRE CAUSES HURRIED MORNING EXODUS

Families Watch as Brigade Extinguishes Blaze in Vancouver Building

Vancouver, Sept. 21.—Amid dense clouds of smoke which filled the majority of the 100 suites in the Felix Apartment House at Melville and Jervis Streets here, tenants of that building made their way to the street in night attire and nondescript garments shortly after 5 o'clock this morning when fire broke out on the lower floor.

The blaze originated in the furnace room, the cause not yet being known. The flames were confined by the brigade to the lower floor, although the greatest damage resulted from smoke which rose to the top of the building.

Delay in combating the fire was caused by the failure of the telephone system owing to the proximity of the fuse board to the blaze and the fact that the person ringing in the alarm did not know where the nearest callbox was.

By the time the fire department knew of the outbreak the fire had gained a considerable hold in the furnace room and was spreading to suites on the ground floor.

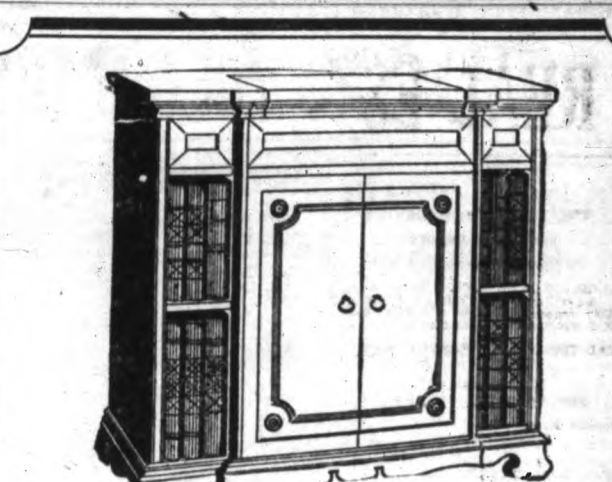

Awakened by the smoke and warned by their fellow tenants, occupants of the building hurriedly gathered together clothing and personal belongings and gained the outer air. Dogs, cats and canaries were among the salvaged property, one young girl hugging to her breast a large white Persian cat as she waited to know the outcome of the fire.

Within a few minutes of the arrival of the apparatus, some pieces of which were slightly delayed by street work which is being carried out in the vicinity, the blaze was well under control, but smoke still continued to pour from the fire.

STORM DEATHS MORE THAN 300

Property Losses in Florida in Recent Disturbance Above $20,000,000

West Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 20.—The known death toll from the hurricane last Sunday in Florida mounted above 300 to-day.

A. O. Parker, city manager of West Palm Beach, said an official check showed thirty-five persons and 200 negroes, victims of the hurricane, had been buried here.

There were seventeen known deaths in the vicinity of Okeechobee City, while reports from field workers said bodies were piled at several places in the Lake Okeechobee region awaiting transportation to high ground for burial.

HEAVY PROPERTY LOSS

Howard W. Shelby, chairman of the Palm Beach County Red Cross, said the property losses to Palm Beach County alone would be nearer $20,000,000 than his previous estimate of $20,000,000.

Fifteen thousand persons were homeless in the county, he declared, and 8,000 persons in the lake region were desperately in need of medical aid, food and clothing.

MARKET ACT PLANS MADE

STOCK MARKETS — FINANCIAL NEWS — GRAIN MARKETS

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.)

Winnipeg, Sept. 20.—Wheat: Wheat opened 1/4 higher this morning based on the cables which came about one-half penny better than due. Early trade was very small but later there was fair buying of October by export and continental houses which carried prices from 1c to 1/2 above last night's close. This class of buying was not large but was sufficient to absorb the offerings which continued very light. There was also a little further short covering, and spreading between this market and Chicago.

October was mostly the strongest month to-day and reflected the buying by seaboard houses. However, the full bulge was not held, the demand appearing to be satisfied during the last hour. Movement of wheat from the farms continues very heavy.

The weather in western Canada continues very favorable for threshing operations and the farmers are devoting all their attention to this work instead of selling the grain which is sending to the elevators. This probably accounts for the very small bedding sales. There was again a very good demand for cash wheat from ship position to a close and consequently the price to fill boats arriving and against old sales. Spreads were unchanged to 1/2 higher.

There is plenty of wheat en route to the head of the lakes but supplies at the terminals are small, and the demand for immediate shipment. Mills are moderate buyers of two and three northern. The weather forecast continues favorable. Country elevators are reported as being holding in many points and railroad cars hard to secure. Look for an easier market next week.

Coarse grains.—There was excellent buying of rye again to-day and a fair demand for barley, while there was nothing done in oats. Offerings were extremely light in oats and rye, while there was a little holding in the barley market. Oats closed unchanged to 1/4 higher, barley 1/4 higher and rye 1/4 to 1/2 higher.

Flax.—This market again displayed firmness, closing 1/4 to 1/2 up. Offerings were practically nil but the demand is very moderate.

A Thrilling Story of Fate and the Famous Sweepstake

By E. C. BULEY

John agreed happily, and they were off. Joan breathed more freely when they were clear of Grappling, and bowing over narrow country roads. Her hands were in John's hands, and the light of his eyes seemed to banish all the darkness which had oppressed her spirit.

They spent the day as new-made lovers do, talking about themselves. Joan heard a good deal about John's past and his work, and as the day wore on she wondered more and more. All that she heard was consistent with the John Blake she knew, and Allen Franklin, whom she could only imagine, never once peeped from behind it. Tales of safari, with gaps in them which she could fill by ascribing to the teller parts which his simple modesty suppressed. Stories of animals and birds, patiently observed, and eloquent of the humor and loving kindness of the observer.

John talked a good deal, too, not much at first, but more and more as she discovered that he was talking to a hearer who understood. He could fill in the gaps, too, she saw; love and an appreciation she had never before encountered making that easy to him. Sometimes they sat in silence, the only sound being the tinkling of the little brook, as the diamond water fell over mossy stones. During those silences their glances sometimes shyly met. And inevitably they would presently kiss, and fall to talking again. A perfect day, and it came to an end only too soon.

"We must start for Grappling now," Joan said, after a glance at her watch. "I have to catch a train in less than two hours. I must be at the office early to-morrow. I left so much undone."

"I wish I could come with you," John said mournfully. "But my hosts are counting on me for to-night. They have seen next to nothing of me, so far."

That he should return with her was Joan's intention, but she said nothing until they were near the railway station. "John," she said suddenly. "You must throw your hosts over, and come back to London with me. You can write and explain."

Blake looked very grave at the suggestion. "Nothing I'd like better, darling," he said. "But, you see, I can hardly do such a thing."

"But you must," Joan said imperatively. "It is not silly sentiment on my part, John. There are people in Grappling who are seeking you, and you must not be seen by them."

"Why not? Who are these people, in the first place?"

"That woman!" Joan said faintly. "She is calling herself Mrs. Allen Franklin to-day, whatever name she may choose to employ at other times. And the man with her; his name is Gordon. He has something to do with Parachute. And he knows, John. Don't you understand? He knows that you sent Norman Wareing the proofs of Franklin's death. So you cannot see them."

"Why not?" John asked again. "These people can only have one object in seeing me—to establish the fact that Franklin is still alive. That is what I wish to do now. It seems to me that I ought to see them."

"Oh, will you not understand?" Joan cried in distress. "This man Gordon is horribly quick; he is a dangerous man. He knows too much, John. You must avoid him."

"Apparently there is something more than he wishes to know," Blake said, as he drew up at the station, and he helped Joan out. "Of course, I've got to face the fact that I issued a false report of Franklin's death. I must publicly admit and explain that. So I'll hear what this Gordon has to say, and suit myself about telling him my own plans. Whatever he may think he knows, he certainly shall not know as much as I do."

It was on the tip of Joan's tongue to say: "But he knows that you are Allen Franklin."

She was restrained by John's perfect assumption of the pretence that he and Franklin were entirely separate persons. In time, Joan felt she would be able to assume that fiction just as perfectly, certainly she was not going to shatter the fabric of a new life John Blake had erected by any blunt assertion of her own knowledge.

The train was just approaching the station, and John had got her bag, and placed her in a first-class carriage. One more desperate effort must be made. An appeal to reason was useless, and Joan fell back upon her femininity, wondering at herself the while.

"You cannot care very much for me," she said, with a hint of tears in her voice. "If you let me go away by myself like this."

Most exasperating John Blake smiled. "I care for nothing else but you, and you know it," he said, leaning through the open window. "Oh, there's one thing I had nearly forgotten, which may crop up before we meet again. I want to make Franklin some recompense, for coming to life so very conveniently."

The guard blew his whistle. "Yes?" Joan said, not understanding at all.

"I thought a decent slice out of that sweep prize," John went on. "If the horse should win, or even get placed; you could make it well worth his while, and hardly miss the money, you see."

The train was on the move now. John ran alongside the carriage, watching Joan's face with consternation; which grew to dismay when he could keep pace no longer. She had made no verbal answer to his proposal, but continued to look at him with a face eloquent of growing contempt and repulsion.

"Now what the deuce have I done?" asked John Blake.

A STRANGE DINNER PARTY

John Blake walked slowly down to the Royal Hotel at Grappling, a good deal confused and bewildered. It had been part of his scheme for the resuscitation of Franklin that the man should be paid a sufficient capital sum to enable him to get another start in life; something to compensate him for the opportunities he was called upon to forfeit. Why should Joan regard the suggestion with such open loathing? It was not greed; that John was so sure that he did not even consider the possibility. But why?

He entered the dining room of the hotel in search of Gordon and Mrs. Franklin; for dinner was just being served. Gordon saved him the trouble of inquiry by rising to his feet, and advancing to meet him.

"Mr. Blake, isn't it?" he said. "I wish you would join us. You'll have heard about my friend, Mrs. Allen Franklin."

John acknowledged the introduction gravely, and Gordon ordered that another cover should be set.

"Miss Kennett told me you had come, probably to see me," he said. "Was she right in assuming as much?"

"Quite right," Gordon agreed. "May we expect the pleasure of Miss Kennett's company as well?"

"She had to go back to town," John explained, and noticed that the simple statement disconcerted the suave man a good deal, in spite of his perfunctory expression of regret.

"So after seeing her off," John continued, "I came to look for you. I think I can guess your reason for seeking me."

"Suppose we leave that until we have dined," Gordon suggested. "It seems to me that you and I will have no difficulty in understanding one another."

"But what about me?" Dickey burst out aggressively. "I've come to this dog-hole to know whether I'm a widow or a wife, and Mr. Blake is the only man who knows it seems."

"No widow as yet, Mrs. Franklin," John said, touching his winged glass. "Shall we drink long life to your absent husband?"

Gordon smiled amiably as he accepted the challenge, but Dickey continued herself with a resentful glance at her narrow, greenish eyes. She did not like to feel that she was being laughed at, but saw no way of openly resenting so direct an answer to her question.

about trifles, until coffee and liquors were brought, and Gordon offered a case of perfect cigars.

"If you want to smoke here, Dickey," he said. "Mr. Blake and I can have our coffee taken to the smoking-room."

"I am going to be in on this," Dickey declared. "I came down to the edge of the matter to please you, and I'm going to stay with you now, to please myself."

"I think not," Gordon said. "The circumstances have altered, Dickey, as you must have seen for yourself. I've got to handle this business in quite another way to that I expected, owing to the absence of Miss Kennett. If you want to be in it at the end, you'll get out of it now, for a beginning."

"Oh, send my coffee and the benediction to my room," Dickey said venomously, capitalizing on the spot.

"I made a mistake," Gordon said pleasantly, as Dickey disappeared. "I recognized it as you spoke. But it makes no kind of difference now. So Franklin is very much alive, eh?"

Rather awkward for you, isn't it, Mr. Blake, when you provided Wareing with such complete proof that he was dead?"

"It might have been," John agreed. "If Wareing had not been such a useful crook. He has the brass to try bribery with me."

"And you sent him to sleep, for sixteen minutes by the watch," Gordon agreed. "I helped to bring him around. Naturally I exercised some caution in approaching you. I see I need not have troubled."

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Blackberries

Copyright, 1928, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate
(By Howard R. Garis)

Uncle Wiggily so much liked the red raspberries which Baby Bunty helped him pick one day that the next afternoon, when the little orphan rabbit girl hopped home from school and saw Mr. Longears with a pail on his paw, she called:

"Oh, I know where you're going, Uncle Wig."

"Where?" asked the rabbit gentleman.

"You're going to pick some more red raspberries," answered Bunty. "And may I please come with you? I'll leave my coral beads home."

"You may come with me all right," said Uncle Wiggily, "but I am not going to pick red raspberries."

"Oh, dear!" said Bunty, and she looked a little sad. For she thought red raspberries were wonderful to eat. "They taste just like perfume smells," said the little orphan bunny.

"No, I'm not going after red berries," said Uncle Wiggily again, but by the way in which his pink nose twinkled, Baby Bunty knew there was more to come. And, surely enough, Uncle Wiggily laughed and said: "I am going after blackberries."

"Black berries or red, it makes no difference to me," said Baby Bunty, "as long as I may go adventuring with you, Uncle Wig."

"Come along, then," invited the rabbit gentleman, "and be sure your rubbers are on good and tight for I don't want to stop every now and then to pick them up if they come off."

"My rubbers won't come off, for I haven't got any on, 'cause it isn't raining," said Bunty.

"Oh, there goes one!"

"One what?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Do you mean one Bad Chap?"

"And there goes another!" exclaimed Bunty, jumping up and down.

"Do you mean another Bad Chap?"

Is it the Fox or Wolf?" asked Uncle Wiggily, as he looked back for Baby Bunty was behind him on the path through the woods. "What is it, Bunty?"

"There goes another!" was all the little orphan bunny answered and then Uncle Wiggily saw her limping along.

Winnipeg, Sept. 20—A meeting between representatives of the National Research Council and the Dominion Board of Grain Commissioners to discuss the handling of grain and map out a programme for the research laboratories, which are being enlarged, will be held here in the near future, according to Leslie Lloyd, chairman of the Board of Grain Commissioners. Representatives of western universities are expected to attend. Dr. H. M. Tury, chairman of the National Research Council will arrive here tonight.

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES—

—By MARTIN

Uncle Wiggily picked the blackberries.

ing. And Baby Bunty gave a laugh. "But I got my shoes on, and my shoes have black buttons on," she added. "Well, be careful not to lose your shoes or buttons," cautioned Uncle Wiggily.

Baby Bunty said she would be careful, and then she and Uncle Wiggily hopped along until, pretty soon, they reached a field where some late blackberries grew on bushes.

"Oh, what fine, large, shining blackberries!" cried Baby Bunty and all at once she picked one and popped it into her mouth.

"You mustn't do that!" warned Mr. Longears.

"Why not, Uncle Wig?" asked Bunty. "Because we must pick this pail full of berries before we eat any," said the rabbit gentleman.

"Oh, dear!" sighed the little orphan bunny. "But what shall I do about the berry I just ate, I'm afraid, Uncle Wig, that I swallowed it."

"Well, then, it's too late to do anything about that berry," chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "But don't eat any more until we have picked our pail full. Then we can sit down and eat a few with some sugar that Nurse Jane gave me. I have it here in my pocket."

"That will be a regular berry picnic!" laughed Bunty and she and Uncle Wiggily picked the blackberries so fast that soon the pail was filled and they staid bare home. But they had not gone far and Uncle Wiggily was looking for a little dingly or boosy dell, where they might sit down and have the berry picnic when, all of a sudden, Bunty cried:

"Oh, there goes one!"

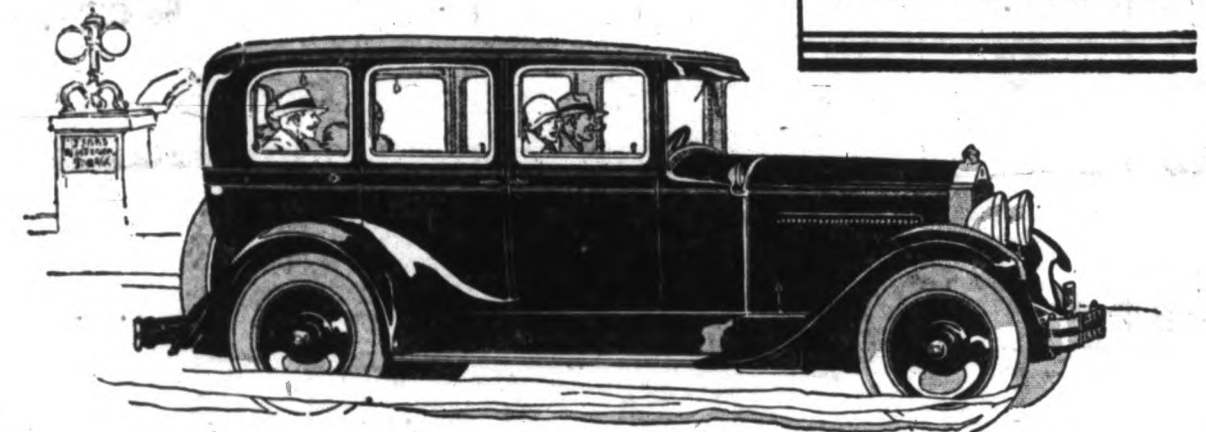

"One what?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Do you mean one Bad Chap?"

"And there goes another!" exclaimed Bunty, jumping up and down.

"Do you mean another Bad Chap?" Is it the Fox or Wolf?" asked Uncle Wiggily, as he looked back for Baby Bunty was behind him on the path through the woods. "What is it, Bunty?"

"There goes another!" was all the little orphan bunny answered and then Uncle Wiggily saw her limping along.

A SLED

You will have no use in the summertime for a sled, of course, but it is well to look ahead, and be ready to coast when the first snow falls. The sled pictured here is made entirely of wood. First get two pieces of board 4 feet long, 6 inches wide and an inch thick. Cut these to form the sides.

Get some more wood and cut it into lengths of 20 inches. This wood should not be more than a half inch thick.

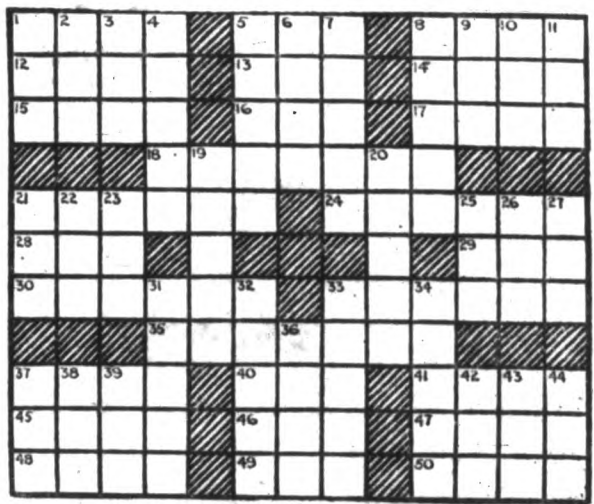

As each piece is cut, nail it to the long pieces. The piece in front may be a little narrower than the others as it is fixed to the turned-up part.

Turn the sled over and nail two pieces of board from side to side to strengthen the sides of the sled. These can be nailed into position through the runners. Bore holes for your rope and you are ready for the first snow of winter. You can make the sled longer or shorter than the measurements given, as you see fit.

Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle

To-morrow's Horoscope

Early this morning the planetary government is comparatively beneficent, but astrologers read that adverse aspects gain power later in the day.

Women are subject to a sway making for much activity. Under this direction of the stars they should gain through courageous initiative.

It is a time for women writers and actresses to profit through well-laid Autumn plans.

Publicity for women should be peculiarly beneficial while this configuration prevails. Candidates for political office should push their campaigns.

There is a forbidding sign for men who carry heavy responsibilities. They should combat that tired feeling, which may be felt even after vacation time.

Under this direction of the stars both men and women may be less confident than usual. It is a time to brace up mentally.

Discussions and bickerings within organizations again are strongly indicated. Lack of harmony may be serious for many ambitious associations.

Both men and women are likely to be exceedingly self-conscious and individualistic while this rule continues.

Autumn events are to illustrate to many persons that pride goeth before a fall.

Domestic peace may be easily shattered. For a long time the seers have prophesied that at this period many surprising events will take place. The unexpected is likely to happen.

Deaths among young persons who apparently have a long life hazard may be numerous. Persons of all ages should avoid fatigue and physical strain of every sort.

Gravins for new experiences and novel experiences will bring many heavy debts to the young, it is foretold. They will pay with health as well as with money.

Persons whose birthdate it is should avoid the temptation to gamble or to speculate. Risks of every sort may be peculiarly per-ious and even marriage may be attended by strange disappointments.

Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly gifted and talented along unusual lines. These subjects of Virgo are on the cusp and may reveal strong Libra traits. They may be too fond of taking risks for their own peace of mind or success.

MacDonald Speaks Of Harvest Workers

London, Sept. 20. (Canadian Press Cable)—Right Hon. Ramsay MacDonald, former Labor Premier of Great Britain, who returned yesterday from a holiday in Canada, made the following statement to a representative of The Manchester Guardian with regard to the British harvesters sent to Canada:

"Regarding one or two I saw myself. I can not understand how they came to be passed through any sort of a test. They were excellent fellows, but to send them out for the hard work of harvesting was to court failure."

Indigestion

Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acid. Each bottle contains full directions—any drug store. (Adv.)

AT THE THEATRES

PARIS SCENE OF CAPITOL'S FILM OFFERING

Synopetized melodies from a jazz band... hundreds of persons dancing, coking and flirting in a cafe... beggars looking into the windows, envying all this gaiety... the doors open... a beautiful woman comes out to this street, followed by several doting old men... cries of flower vendors... a crowd of gaping people watching a gendarme remove a disturber from a cafe.

That is the Paris revealed on the screen in Florence Vidor's latest Paramount starring vehicle, "The Magnificent Flirt," being shown at the Capitol Theatre today, Friday and Saturday.

It is a French farce bristling with smart coming and romantic complications, with Miss Vidor playing the title role. She wins her way into the heart of a wealthy count but, when he sees her kissing another man, he accuses her of being too careless with her love.

On those grounds, he refuses to allow his nephew—the man Miss Vidor kissed—to marry her daughter. How Miss Vidor is vindicated, forms an interesting and entertaining story.

The French atmosphere has been caught as only Parisians can catch it. H. d'Abbadie d'Arast, the director and author of the original story, comes of French parents and has spent much time in Paris, while Jean de Limur, who wrote the screen play, knows the French capital like a book.

Beautiful women, handsome men, jazz and gaiety mark "The Magnificent Flirt."

Stage attractions appearing at the Capitol Theatre to-day, Friday and Saturday, offer an entirely new programme of singing, dancing and musical features, and include such artists as Rastus Buckner, the well-known comedian, Gonella and Wilson, the Italian singers and musicians, and the Staunton Sisters, champion hard shoe dancers of America in a gorgeous dance creation. The Capitol concert orchestra, and Harold Bechtel, the singing M.C., will also feature some new musical hits.

Hoot Gibson Seen In Strong Western On Columbia Screen

Hoot Gibson's newest production, "Riding for Fame," a Universal-Jewel picture, now being shown at the Columbia Theatre, is the best one in which he has ever appeared.

"Riding for Fame" provides all the thrilling episodes and dramatic situations of his former picture, but it has added a great deal of comedy and a new note in the telling. As a comedy alone it is one of the funniest films shown here this season.

The story was written by Reeves Eason, the man who directed it. Eason has achieved a skill and smoothness in the unfolding of the picture that does him great credit. The story is original for a Western film, and the way in which it is told makes it highly interesting as well as probable.

The contention that drama in pictures is just "canned" and that the possibility of photoplay themes having duplicates in real life is slight, has often been touted. "It couldn't have happened in real life" is the favorite sneer of those from Missouri and elsewhere. Then they chuckle—wisely.

A dramatic scene not for the camera, on the set for Harry O. Hoy's production of "The Woman on the Jury," a first National picture, put to flight all the rumors of eventless lives. Drama thrives among rich and poor alike.

Sylvia Breamer, star of the production, and Frank Mayo, her leading man, sat side by side in the jury box surrounded by an all-star cast of jurors. All were keyed to a high pitch. Bessie Love was relating a tragic story upon the witness stand. Her pathetic tale was identical with that of the woman on the jury—Sylvia Breamer. Chaos reigned.

At the intense climax when Miss Breamer realized that her story and that of the woman on the witness stand were alike, she arose to her feet in amazement. Fear tore her heart. "The Woman on the Jury" is being shown at the Variety to-day.

"LADY, BE GOOD!" PLAYHOUSE BILL SHOWING TO-DAY

EMDEN'S END IS FILMED ON COLISEUM BILL

Film followers whose nerves tingle every time the news reels show a superdreadnaught firing a shell in battle practice have a treat in store in the picture, "The Raider Emden," which is being shown at the Coliseum Theatre. Recording the adventure of the German cruiser Emden in the Indian Ocean during the early days of the war, the film contains the most stirring depiction of a sea fight ever screened.

The takes place between the Emden and the Australian cruiser Sydney, which caught the raider after she had sunk many British and other merchantmen. The heroism and gallantry on both ships, the unwavering devotion to duty, sacrifices and fine discipline of German sailors in their losing fight and the insight given into the details of handling a warship in action are things that fairly grip the spectator.

The production was made with the co-operation of the German Admiralty and appears free from bias and propaganda. What is shown might easily be a classic, but the realistic record of the Emden's celebrated exploit, why it is included among the episodes preceding the engagement with the Sydney, are, of course, shots of sinking of shipping, an interesting representation of de-

Keaton Film At Dominion To-day Is Lavish Comedy

"Steamboat Bill Jr.," the Buster Keaton comedy for United Artists, which will have its local premiere at the Dominion Theatre to-day, is probably the most lavishly produced laugh feature ever made.

From the first glimpse of the frozen-faced star, when he ambles on to the screen as a sappy youth whose own father doesn't even give him credit for being able to do anything but play a ukulele, till the uproarious climax, when Buster turns into the most extraordinary character that ever trod the deck of a stern-wheeler, "Steamboat Bill Jr." is said to keep audiences in hysterics.

Advance notices call "Steamboat Bill Jr." Keaton at his funniest.

He is the awkward son of a river ship owner, whose position is being threatened by a rival shipper.

The part of Buster's father brings Ernest Torrence as the stumbling, shambling, laughable, but not unlovable old shipowner, out of step with modern business, but stoutly refusing to give up the ship. Buster's plight throughout the picture is such stuff as laughs are made of. When, for instance, he smuggles into the crude jail where his father is, a huge loaf of bread containing an entire jailbreaking kit, the situation pits the Keaton comedy against the Torrence comedy, contrast making comedy more comical.

Marion Byron, a slender, girlish little newcomer into the United Artists forces, plays the girl opposite Buster's awkward youth. Tom McGuire and Tom Lewis are other prominent members of the cast who share laugh honors.

"Steamboat Bill Jr." was directed by Charles "Chuck" Reisner, former associate of Charles Chaplin and later the megaphone chief for Syd Chaplin during the filming of "The Belter Ole," "The Missing Link" and other comedies.

Both Keaton and Reisner regard "Steamboat Bill Jr." as the outstanding picture of their careers.
